Two Men Drowned Near Squamish

SQUAMISH (CP)—Two former Winnipeggers were drowned late Sunday in Browning Lake here while swimming after a drifting boat.

The men, employed by Pacific Great Eastern Railway, were John MacArthur, 25, and Bob Norman, 24.

The bodies were recovered. The men were described by police as poor swimmers. They said Miss June Confortin tried unsuccessfully to aid them. She got a hold on one, but was dragged under and forced to release her grip.

MORRISON TELLS HOUSE THAT ISRAEL HERE TO STAY

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison today called on the Arab states of the Middle East to recognize that Israel was in their midst to stay.

Opening a Middle East debate in the House of Commons, Morrison expressed regret Israel and her Arab neighbors had not settled their differences. He said responsibility rested with both sides.

Morrison said in its relations with the Middle East the Labor Government has had "one failure we admit, namely Palestine."

"We had hoped eventually to bring about a settlement that would have been acceptable to Jew and Arab alike," he said. But he said Britain's relations with Israel are improving now and added: "We wish her well."

VAN FLEET WARNS AGAINST TREACHERY

Statement Follows Failure Of Korea Peace Delegates To Break Deadlock

From UP and AP Dispatches

Cease-fire negotiations remained deadlocked for the fourth day Monday over the fixing of an armistice line on the battle front.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commanding the 8th Army, warned his men against a possible Communist "ambush."

Van Fleet said United Nations negotiators were acting in good faith and he hoped the Communist negotiators were also. "But warning his troops to keep constant vigilance, he said: "We must not and will not permit this great U.N. army to become a victim of a Communist ambush."

There was but one real agreement in the meeting Monday—that the fighting will continue unabated during the negotiations.

Longest session

U.N. and Communist delegations ended their 14th and longest single session in Kaesong Monday still in complete disagreement over the establishment of a truce line and demilitarized zone along the 35-mile front.

It was reported that both sides might soon agree to a recess of several days so they can give the question further study and consult fully with their governments.

The Communists insist that the Allies give up 2,125 square miles of captured North Korean territory by establishing the cease-fire line along the 38th parallel instead of along the present front.

STEP UP AIR ATTACKS

The U.N. forces gave point to their leaders' insistence that fighting continue during negotiations by winning a stirring victory on the east-central front.

They completed the capture of a chain of hills dominating that entire area after a bitter five-day battle.

The U.N. air forces kept up their part of the war by battering enemy ports on the west and east coasts.

B-29 Superforts blasted three Red supply centres in North Korea — Chinnampo, Kiyompo and Hamhung.

Polish Spy Trials Start Tomorrow

LONDON (AP) — Warsaw radio announced today four generals and five other Polish army officers will go on trial tomorrow charged with running a spy ring for the United States and Britain.

Among the defendants is Brig. Gen. Stanislaw Tatar, former chief of operations for the Polish home army.

Others include Col. Marian Utkin and Col. Stanislaw Nowinski, who served with Tatar in the London staff of the Polish Refugee Army in the Second World War.

Utkin was chief of the Polish purchasing mission in London until last October, when he was recalled to Warsaw.

The Warsaw broadcast said the nine defendants, financed from Washington and London, had sought since 1945 to undermine the Polish Army and make ready for a forceful overthrow of the Communist regime.

'MORE THAN CAPACITY'

Taft Warns Air, Sea Control Joint Problem

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (CP) — Senator Robert Taft (Rep., O) said last night the United States should undertake with the British Empire the control of the sea and air throughout the world.

Speaking at Republican Party re-dedication program, Taft said the U.S. now is undertaking "more than our capacity."

He said that if the United States can gain control of the sea and air, "this country will be safe, and we can be of maximum assistance to those who undertake to check Communism throughout the entire world."

British Cabinet Mission To Tehran For Oil Talks

Decision Follows Week-End Conference With U.S. Envoy

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison announced today Britain will send a cabinet mission to Tehran to discuss an oil settlement with Iran.

He told the House of Commons the mission will be led by Richard Stokes, Lord Privy Seal, and added: "It is not expedient for me at this moment to say anything further on this matter."

Morrison explained the decision came about as a result of consultations with Averell Harriman, President Truman's envoy, now in London.

Morrison said there are still some points to be cleared up before the mission can leave for the Iranian capital.

Harriman boarded a United States air force plane tonight to return to Tehran. He said he will see Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossadegh immediately upon his arrival tomorrow. Stokes accompanied him to the airport.

"I am optimistic that a basis can be found for a settlement of the dispute that has arisen in Iran," Harriman told airport reporters. "I have had very satisfactory talks with members of the British government, and I am now going back to Tehran to work out the main points with the Iranian government and with Anglo-Iranian Oil Company officials."

(From Baghdad it was reported that oil-rich Iraq, neighbor to troubled Iran, is completing a lucrative new contract with foreign oil interests.)

Morrison said the British government and the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company "have been ready at every stage to meet the legitimate aspirations of the Persian (Iranian) people."

"We have every sympathy with the natural desire of the Persian people to control their own mineral resources," he said.

While Britain is ready to accept the principle of nationalization, Morrison explained, she will not accept a one-sided violation of an agreement.

"We are entering a new era in the development of Middle Eastern oil," Morrison said.

He said much frustration in the Middle East is "due to the failure to satisfy the urge for social and material betterment."

He stressed the importance of oil resources in the future of the area, and said he hoped that development of the Middle East would be toward "an ever closer partnership between the countries possessing the oil and the foreign countries who are contributing capital, technical skill and marketing facilities."

Morrison also said Britain is anxious to be friendly with Egypt. He invited Egypt to co-operate "as an equal in the common effort to make the world safe."

Vancouver Yacht Leads Class In Predicted Race

SEATTLE, Wash. (CP) — Dr. Les Marshall, veteran Vancouver Burrard Yacht Club skipper, topped Canadians and was leading in his class with an error of 1.78 per cent as times were calculated today in the international cruiser race from Vancouver to Seattle.

This means that his calculations for the 130-mile course in his 30-foot Jaro were near perfect.

Leading in Class "A," fastest cruiser in the race, while times were still being worked out, was Frank Morris of Everett, Wash., with an error of only .7533 per cent.

Class one was led by Phill Luther of Seattle in Mary Jane with 1.4476 per cent. Harold Jones of Vancouver in La Beverie posted an error of 4.5621.

Dawn of Victoria, skippered by W. Miller, posted 4.7797.

Class two was led by Evald Anderson of Tacoma in Marjoh. Ray Hart of Bremerton, led class three with 2.5452. Other Canadian scores were: Russ Marks in Sequin 4.444, Dr. Scott Baxter, Truant, 7.1591, and Duna, Dr. W. H. Moore, Victoria, 10.18. Alleen, G. H. Patton, Nanaimo, 2.58. Geva, Tom Pakenham, R.V.Y.C., 4.7615.

India Awaits

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—India has not made her final decision on attending the conference in San Francisco to sign a Japanese peace treaty, informed sources said today. But she probably will go along with the United States and Britain if some of her suggestions for revising the draft treaty are adopted.

Belated Report Spurs Missing Aircraft Hunt

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (BUP) — Search for a Canadian Pacific airliner missing with 38 aboard accelerated today when a belated report revealed the plane was in contact with Elmendorf air force base about one hour before it made its last position report over Cape Spencer, Alaska.

The information officer at the Anchorage, Alaska, base, Capt. Ronald Green, said the ship had tried to contact Elmendorf to have box lunches ready for the 31 passengers and seven crew members. They were to have been picked up when the plane made a refueling stop at Anchorage on its trip to Tokyo.

Green said if the pilot had been on course, his request for lunches would have been made approximately over Yakutat, Alaska.

Green said that only the Canadian Department of Transportation Airways communication station at Whitehorse, Yukon Territory, received and recorded the ship's request for lunches. The operator at Whitehorse was unable to contact the Canadian pilot to advise him he had relayed the request to Elmendorf.

A check by search officials disclosed that operators of three other stations overheard the message from the missing aircraft, but none of them logged it. Green said that this accounted for the delay in relaying the information.

Toronto Man Knife Victim

TORONTO (CP)—A 27-year-old man was stabbed to death with a spring knife Saturday night—trying to protect a young baby-sitter.

Gerard Guy Ouellette was found in an alley with five knife wounds near his heart. He died in hospital.

Charged with murder was Ralph Romans-Boehner.

Police said the stabbing occurred after Ouellette told Romans-Boehner to stop bothering the 14-year-old girl.

Ouellette was "asked out in the alley to settle it," police said. Romans-Boehner fled from the scene but was picked up shortly afterwards.

The baby-sitter was unidentified.

Death Toll From Ferry Capsizing Remains At 5

EDMUNDSTON, N.B. (CP)—At least five persons lost their lives in a scene of watery panic Sunday when a hand-operated cable ferry overturned and sank on Lake Caron.

Swift, capable action by spectators and oarsmen at a regatta saved many lives among the approximately 50 men, women and children hurled into the water.

The dead were identified as: Guy St. Pierre, 18; Armand Neau, 20; Robert Levesque, 13; Martin Corbin, 8, all of Edmundston, and Clifford Fongemil, 17, of Frenchville, Me.

All persons reported missing earlier have been accounted for, the R.C.M.P. said. However, police said they would continue dragging the small lake, 20 miles from here, in case some unreported persons had been drowned.

Witnesses said one of two ferries was saying he warned that too many were getting on the boat. But they disregarded him and some 50 jammed on to the craft which normally carries between 25 and 30 passengers.

The ferry was travelling about 250 feet from a small island to the lake shore. Witnesses said

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

REFUGE FROM REALITY

A DAY OR SO after my return from Britain an item appeared in this paper's news columns to the effect that a professional man had been advertising for volunteer colonists for "a spot where true civilization may flourish away from bombs and bombing planes."

According to the news item, the 40-year-old Briton had received about 250 replies from all over the world to his appeal to those "interested in the founding of an isolated colony which may provide a refuge from the horrors of civilization." And at a subsequent meeting held in London about 85 potential colonists had gathered to discuss the idea.

MUST BE PRACTICAL

THERE the proponent of the plan asked his audience if they had any definite ideas as to where the proposed haven should be situated. And he also asked them if they were willing to buy a lot therein—or should it be thereon?—whether they would be willing to have a house built; if they were able to keep themselves and families or had any particular aptitudes that might be useful in an island paradise.

Such questions suggest that the proponent is a bit more practical than the usual run of visionaries seeking escape from reality in some Utopia. But another aspect of his plan rather tends to nullify the practicality hinted at in his questions for, to the same audience, he indicated his preference for an international colony, on condition that the colonists left their national politics and prejudices behind.

POLITICS AND PREJUDICES

ANY HOPE THAT, in this day and age, any haven can be found free from the ramifications of 'isms, cults and politics seems about as futile as the hope that, by escaping to some remote island or other area, anyone can escape from the repercussions of the ever-widening influence of atom bombs.

Yet, from time to time someone is always coming along with the idea of finding converts—not always from altruistic motives, either. Take the case that came up in a Burbank, Cal., police court this spring, when eight elderly members of a church in Van Nuys sued their pastor.

HAVEN HIDEOUT

THE PLAINTIFFS disclosed that they had been hiding out in the mountains since 1947 to escape an atomic war on a tip from their pastor. It seems that the pastor in question translated certain "messages" received from God in that year as indicating the approach of a great atomic war.

He advised them to sell their homes and move to a mountain retreat, "Eden City" near Acton in the Los Angeles Forest. They did so—and handed him the $50,000 cash obtained from the sale, in return for promissory notes, for which sum they were suing him. The elderly people told the court they had stored food in caves, lived in huts with no water or sanitation, worked 80 hours a week raising livestock and doing farm chores.

ALWAYS WILL BE

WHAT THE outcome of that case was I have not found out. But it doesn't matter much. I only quoted it as an instance of the eternal quest of world-weary people to find some distant Utopia where they can escape from the reality of every-day living in this troubled world.

But with the world shrinking daily, thanks to the ever-widening tentacles of radio, jet planes and similar developments, the frontiers of civilization have been pushed back to such an extent that even the once extremely remote and primitive peoples are being gradually brought into the orbit of civilization.

UPSET THE APPLE-CART

WHAT THE Utopian visionaries also forget is that, with human nature being what it is, the chances are that when you get any set up of grown-ups, especially one of an international character, establishing a colony "far from the madding crowd" it won't be very long before they either revert to the primitive and throw "true civilization" overboard, or their inherent prejudices and beliefs will interject themselves into the picture and upset the Utopian apple-cart.

In other words, escape from the worries and troubles of this atomic age is not so much a matter of geography as of one's own inner resources—mental and spiritual rather than material.

New High Figure

Energy requirements of the B.C. Power Commission system continue to set new records, with figures for June last reaching an all-time high at 30,492,615 kilowatt hours, it is reported.

This increase is 6.5 million kwh or 27.1 per cent over the previous record figures. A major contribution to the increase is the demand by the B.C. Electric Railway Company, Limited, for power from the John Hart plant at Campbell River for the Greater Victoria area.

Nationalists Gain Foothold In New Thrust

Attribute Success To Li Mi's Forces

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—A relative of Li-Gen, Li Mi said today that Li's Chinese Nationalist Forces, which struck into Communist China from North Burma, now control about one-third of the large southwest province of Yunnan.

Official Nationalist quarters assumed an innocent look, obviously trying to give the impression that Nationalist headquarters knew nothing about Li's activities.

The reason for this attitude apparently is that the Nationalists do not want to give anyone the idea they are violating President Truman's ban of June 27, 1951, on operations against the Red mainland.

Officials would say only that they had known Li was in North Burma but were still awaiting details of what he was doing.

Associated Press correspondent Seymour Topping reported Friday from Rangoon, capital of Burma, that authoritative quarters said Li had led a Nationalist refugee army of about 15,000 regulars in a 65-mile penetration of Yunnan. This force was reported to have seized a 100-mile-wide border strip.

Topping's dispatch warned, however, that at present Li's operations were regarded as having no more than a strong nuisance value.

Li's relative in Taipei, who must remain unidentified, said on the other hand that he had information that Li's regulars and Nationalist guerrillas now controlled one-third of Yunnan Province; the Reds controlled one-third, and the remainder was dominated by bandits.

The province covers about 147,000 square miles.

Kipling Society Plans Picnic On Wednesday

Marlene Parsons says good morning to Albert, pet raccoon.

Albert The Raccoon Is Looking For A New Home

Anybody interested in a pet raccoon named Albert?

If there is, the furry little critter can be had for the asking. The only thing is, he'll expect lots of fresh vegetables and a fair amount of bread and milk in return for the entertainment he will provide.

Albert, who is one year old, is living now in the back yard of the Parsons family, Delmar Road, Saanich. He has his own little house and is apparently quite happy. Though he's allowed to roam around, he stays on the Parsons' property and finds his own way back to his lodgings when he's tired.

Albert came to his Saanich home a year ago as an orphan. He was taken care of as a youngster by Wilf Parsons, who took pity on him when a tree he felled near Metchesin last year crushed the little 'coon's mother.

Albert was moved from the woods in Wilfred's lunch box. He's far too big for that type of conveyance now.

Wilfred wants to get rid of Albert because he recently married and set up his own home in a more populated area, where there's no place for the pet.

BEHIND THE SIGNS WITH Jim Nesbitt

Croft Street, in James Bay, was named for Henry Croft, an Australian who came to Vancouver Island in 1862 and became prominent in the up-island lumber business. He founded the town of Crofton, and started the great Victoria Lumber, and Manufacturing Company.

In 1887, Henry Croft sat in the Legislature for Cowichan. He spent much time in that area and owned the Leonora Mine on Mount Sicker.

In July, 1885, he married Mary Jean Dunsin, the third daughter of Hon. Robert Dunsin, the wedding taking place in the Dunsin home, "Fairview," on Menzies Street. Mr. and Mrs. Croft then built "Mount Adelaide," a towered home on a rocky bluff overlooking Victoria Harbor. Mr. Croft died in 1917 and Mrs. Croft, in 1928.

New Drug Improves Feed For Poultry

NEW YORK (UP)—Terramycin, one of the top germ killers, now is being used to improve poultry feed. As a result, young chickens are growing more rapidly into the fryer stage.

A report by two nutritionists and a biochemist discloses that only one-third of an ounce of the drug to a ton of feed can reduce vitamin B12 requirements in chick rations by 40 per cent. Thus, the drug—like several others—makes a better feed at a cheaper price.

BETTING TOTAL UP

SASKATOON (CP)—A one-day record of $105,121 was bet Saturday as the Saskatoon exhibition closed its six-day race meeting. The six-day pari-mutuel total was a record $434,730 compared with $368,186 in 1950.

Two Die As Storms Roar Over Alberta

Lightning And Hail Continue To Wreak Havoc To Crop Fields

EDMONTON (CP)—Two persons were killed by lightning as hail and thunder storms continued to swirl over Alberta during the week-end.

William Budner, 17, of Boyne Lake, 85 miles northeast of Edmonton, was struck Saturday night while working in his backyard.

Louie Koren, 35, of Rusyilia, was killed as he watched the same storm from a window in his home. Rusyilia is about 50 miles southeast of Boyne Lake.

At Olds, 48 miles north of Calgary, hail blown by high winds brought havoc to ripened oats and barley fields. Damage was reported close to 100 per cent in fields piled four to five inches deep with hailstones.

Observers at the Calgary municipal airport reported hailstones an inch in diameter during a Sunday-evening storm.

The Ponoka district, 126 miles north of Calgary, reported one of the worst hail storms in its history Saturday night. Hailstones "as large as hen's eggs" were said to have pounded the district for three-quarters of an hour over a 20-mile area.

Farmers reported spring turkeys killed on several farms and at one ranch several pigs were said to have been "skinned alive." Ditches four feet deep were reported filled with hailstones.

Several rural points in the area were blacked out when power poles were blown down by high winds that accompanied the storm. Trees were stripped of their leaves and windows smashed in farm homes in the storm zone.

At Meeting Creek, north of Ponoka, damage from 20 to 100 per cent was reported in fields struck by hail over a five-mile front.

New Sooke Blaze Cause Of Smoke Pall Over City

Fire-conscious Victorians kept fire departments busy answering phone calls Sunday night, when heavy smoke from a spreading forest fire at Sooke drifted across the city, pushed on by a brisk westerly wind.

B.C. Forest Service Rangers at the Langford station, suspecting a possible local area blaze because of the heavy smoke, combed the entire area in a quick survey, then set to work preparing necessary equipment to fight the fire when its location could be determined.

While they hurriedly assembled parcels of shovels, mattocks, and other equipment, anxious citizens kept the phone ringing until the busy rangers began to give short answers.

The new fire at Sooke is located two miles north of the village, burning in 70 acres of what the rangers describe as "non-commercial cover" in old-date logging slash. There are 75 men, two bulldozers, and a pump on the job.

With the fire-hazard in B.C. woods best described as "explosive," forest rangers are alert for the first report of a blaze, ready to rush men and equipment to the scene without loss of a minute.

Anxious to stop small blazes before they have a chance to race through tinder-dry woods, the Langford "suppression crew" quickly doused a small fire at Goldstream yesterday, using their tank pump.

Phone calls from people alarmed by the smoke didn't ease the strain on the rangers' nerves Sunday night.

Plane Strews Race Hate Handbills Over Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—A small private plane, disregarding zooming fighters that sought to trace it, strewed race hate handbills over an area near Detroit's tank arsenal yesterday.

The plane and its pilot were sought today by state police. The Federal Bureau of Investigation also was investigating the case.

But just what action could be taken against the pilot or distributor, aside from distributing handbills from the air without a permit, was not clear.

The plane made two flights over the arsenal area, on the northwest section of Detroit. Each time it dropped approximately 1,000 of the handbills.

The leaflets, mimeographed on typewriter-sized paper of a poor grade, appeared anti-Semitic in tone. One showed a bearded man in a long black coat kicking Uncle Sam off a cliff.

After the first flight, police called air force officials at nearby Selfridge Field. Three training planes, one an F-51 Mustang, were sent to observe.

As the small plane made its second flight about five hours later, they swooped past it, seeking to note its license number. The slower craft ignored the passes, and since a number of planes were in the area, the Army planes lost track of it.

Major U.S. Industries Hit By Labor Disputes

19,000 Idled By Strike At Caterpillar Co.; Further Action At Ford, Chrysler By United Press

Strikes hampered the farm equipment, automobile and transportation industries today and more walkouts were imminent.

Four big strikes were settled, however, including the "nation's most critical strike"—a seven-week walkout by C.I.O. United Auto Workers against the Cleveland plant of the Aluminum Company of America.

The auto workers struck today against the Caterpillar Tractor Co. plant at East Peoria, Ill., halting production of farm equipment and navy earth-moving machines.

Twelve thousand production workers were on strike and 7,000 others idled. The U.A.W. sought a 28-cent hourly pay boost from Caterpillar, the largest manufacturing firm in downstate Illinois.

Another Illinois walkout was ended, however. Two thousand members of an independent union ended a two-day strike against Sangamo Electric Co., at Springfield.

The A.R.L. American Flint Glass Workers Union asked federal mediators to conciliate a wage dispute in contract negotiations with manufacturers' representatives.

About 1,600 workers are involved in the current talks at Atlantic City, N.J., but the union is scheduled to begin negotiations for 35,000 other employees tomorrow in West Virginia, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana and New Jersey.

REACH AGREEMENT

On the west coast, 10,000 C.I.O. telephone operators reached an agreement with the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company providing for a 10 per cent wage boost.

However, a strike of 300 mechanics against Western Airlines went into its third day with little hope of an early settlement.

Strike votes were scheduled for this week against the Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler.

Ford said that if the 2,000 workers in its Monroe, Mich., parts plant walked out, it would force a shutdown of production in company plants across the nation. The union said the dispute was over a "breakdown in collective bargaining."

It's No Clowning Matter...

..... nor a thought to be regarded lightly, this question of next winter's fuel. As we see it, three factors could jeopardize Victoria's coal supply next winter, namely, the shortage of freight cars, demands by defense industries, and severe weather.

To lay in your winter's stock of coal NOW is not "scare buying," rather the opposite, for government departments recommend that all coal users do this where possible. Our Budget Plan enables you to do so and pay on convenient budget terms, an easy way out of a problem that for most families is certainly no Clowning Matter.

Walker's Budget Plan

No longer do you have to wait until you have all ready cash. Here's how the plan works: Tell us how much coal you need for the winter, pay a small down payment followed by monthly payments and we will keep your coal bin stocked at all times with the kind of coal you prefer. Any kind and quantity of coal, and Gasco Briquettes too, can be ordered on our budget plan.

MONDAY, JULY 30, 1951

Everybody's Business

MILLIONS OF CANADIANS ARE wisely taking advantage of the high money incomes during the present boom to buy life insurance, protect their dependents or provide for their old age. On July 1 insurance in effect in Canada had reached the all-time peak of $16.5 billion, twice the figure of 1941. In the first six months of the year almost $1 billion worth of new insurance was purchased.

Most Canadians, through their insurance policies, have a direct stake in the sound management of the financial system. Any damage to it immediately damages them. Great damage already has been inflicted by inflation. The thousand-dollar insurance policy bought before the war is worth only about half that, in actual purchasing power, today.

As a nation, though not as individuals, we have tried to cover these losses by doubling our insurance. The individual investor—whether his investment be in life insurance or any other fixed asset—has lost half his savings but, even in terms of the new fifty-cent dollar, Canada is one of the best insured countries in the world.

No one should be more interested in the value of the dollar than the man who owns an insurance policy. He is concerned not merely with the face value of the policy but with the amount of goods it will buy for himself or his heirs. Since it will buy half as much goods as formerly, he of all people should support the government in attempting to arrest the further losses caused by inflation.

By the act of buying insurance he is minimizing the inflationary pressure. Instead of buying goods and bidding up prices he is stowing his money away for a rainy day and thus easing the present price strain.

Unfortunately, however, the rate of private saving in Canada has been dropping and this in itself is one of the major factors of inflation. If inflation is to be cured saving must increase. In other words people must postpone the purchase of goods until the overloaded economic machine can produce them in larger quantity. This is precisely what the life insurance investor is doing.

At the same time he is providing for his future and the protection of his family instead of leaving them to the care of the taxpayer. In a disordered world life insurance remains a firm rock of stability, a constant reminder to everybody that the management of the fiscal system is not some vague abstraction in Ottawa but affects the budget of every family in the nation.

The insurance system has become so huge and important, saving so vital to the national economy, that the government might well consider whether, in return for orderly saving, a citizen should be entitled to some reduction in his income tax—an incentive to save still more.

Sinner Is Purged

MR. TIM BUCK IS THE LATEST Communist heretic to seek the forgiveness of the Moscow church. In a public statement the leader of the Labor Progressive party confessed to "crude" and "unforgivable" dialectical errors. They may appear pretty small and silly to most Canadians but evidently they are important to the Politburo and must be publicly expunged.

Mr. Buck's grievous sin was committed in the columns of "National Affairs," the Communist party's organ, last April. He had been asked whether the satellites of Russia in eastern Europe were "proletarian dictatorships" (of the Russian model) or "democracies." Mr. Buck, unconsciously detaching himself from the Moscow line, replied that "the people's democracies are not proletarian dictatorships. They are democratic republics."

This was heresy, outright and unforgivable. For what Mr. Buck said, in the jargon of the Moscow line, was that the "people's democracies" were not like mother Russia itself and, indeed, might be an improvement on pure, original communism. Moreover, he had spread the fallacy that communism in these countries had been achieved without violent revolution and that, of course, is a flagrant denial of Leninism. Had not Lenin written that "the revolutionary dictatorship of the proletariat is rule won and maintained by the use of violence... rule that is unresisted by any laws?"

The Politburo obviously could not tolerate a heretic who suggested, even absent-mindedly, that the satellite states could achieve communism without Russian direction, could build "democratic republics" superior to the "proletarian dictatorship" of Moscow. Evidently Mr. Buck got a sharp message on the Moscow line. So he has recanted in public with the usual lamentations of the Communist sinner. He has regretted his temporary slip in telling the truth.

"My answer was wrong," he writes. "I made a serious error... it is excusable. It is to the credit of our party that individual comrades did challenge my erroneous position... That categorical negative statement ignored the sharpening class struggles... There was unanimous agreement that my answer had been incorrect and that I should correct it... Study shows that answer to be quite definitely wrong... To describe it (the proletarian dictatorship) as anything else is to deny the fundamental principle of Marxism."

His error, it seems, "was aggravated by the fact that I counterposed democracy to proletarian dictatorship, thus obscuring the fact that dictatorship... is the broadest and highest democracy conceivable... for the overwhelming majority of the people."

Now we know. The satellites are not democratic republics. They are something infinitely better, proletarian dictatorships, and dictatorship is the highest democracy conceivable. Beside which the conversation at the Mad Hatter's tea party is a model of logic and clarity. But never mind Mr. Buck's blushing confusion and wriggling humiliation. He has squared himself with the boss.

'Dark, Devious And Daffy'

AMERICAN PRESIDENTIAL POLITICS these days, The Christian Science Monitor remarks, are "dark, devious and daffy." Foreign observers would hesitate to use such adjectives about the affairs of the world's greatest nation but they come with refreshing candor from a distinguished American newspaper.

The curious current riddle of Washington is outlined by The Monitor as follows: Senator Taft is the choice of the party managers as the Presidential candidate next year. On the other side the Democratic managers want President Truman to run again. The natural assumption—since party managers are mainly concerned with winning elections—is, therefore, that Senator Taft and Mr. Truman are considered the most likely winners by their party strategists.

But all the public opinion polls show that the overwhelming majority of voters in both parties want General Eisenhower. Moreover, the Democrats want the Republicans to nominate Senator Taft as the easiest candidate to beat, while the Republicans earnestly desire the renomination of Mr. Truman because, they think, the President has no chance of re-election. Each party, says The Monitor, would nominate the very man their opponents are most confident they can defeat.

"Are the smart boys really that daffy?" The Monitor asks. Not quite.

Let's Not Waste Time

MEMBERS OF THIS COMMUNITY who understand civic government will find scant cause for dismay in Victoria's plan to look fully into particulars and terms of the offer before accepting the Spencer home on Moss Street as an art gallery. It is the duty of the council to satisfy itself that it is working in the interests of the citizens.

At the same time there will be little inclination among the public to lose the opportunity of acquiring such accommodation by allowing too great a delay on the decision. A speedy report by the city manager and quick action by the council is in order.

Victoria, alone among comparable cities in Canada, lacks an adequate arts centre. Through the generosity of a pioneer family, it has the opportunity to overcome that deficiency. It is entirely reasonable that the city should meet some of the costs of upkeep and forego taxes on the site. That is a low price, indeed, to pay for such an asset.

Suggestions have been raised that some aldermen may oppose the acceptance of the gift unless adjoining municipalities assist financially in maintenance of the centre. The municipalities should, of course, make a contribution, since their residents will be able to enjoy the amenities that are provided. Nevertheless, such a minor consideration should not stand in the way of Victoria accepting the gift and going ahead with the project. How else could it acquire such property so cheaply?

It should be understood, moreover, that major expense will be carried by the Arts Centre of Greater Victoria through funds raised by its members, who will also contribute their services voluntarily in staging exhibitions.

No objection should be taken to civic action amounting to a scrutiny of terms and conditions attached to the gift. Once that scrutiny has been made—and it should not take long—action should follow. Important exhibitions are already being arranged which depend on the availability of the new quarters in September.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

MR. CHESTER BLOOM, Ottawa correspondent of The Winnipeg Free Press, has charged into the public arena as the champion of the Canadian pie.

One cannot imagine a worthier champion or a nobler cause. As Mr. Bloom says, the Canadian pie is in a desperate, plight—neglected, starved, debased and counterfeited. And Mr. Bloom, though too modest to say so, is a rescuer admirably equipped with courage, experience, palate and stomach. Still, even this doughty knight will fall in his private search for the Grail. The Canadian pie, I am bound to say, is beyond saving.

ONLY old men like Mr. Bloom and me can understand this lost cause. Only those who lived before electric ovens, commercial bakeries and the fatal decline of public taste know what a pie can be.

Such poetry is beyond my reach but Mr. Bloom has set down an ode to a gooseberry pie in which, like Wordsworth before the spectacle of nature, he finds his own limitations of immortality.

I shall not quote Mr. Bloom's impassioned music. It would only sadden the public with regret for the great age of pies now over. It would only increase public discontent with the present state of the nation, and perhaps start a revolution. Suffice it to say that an old man, reading Bloom on gooseberries, realizes that the world, for all its apparent progress, has been going steadily downhill.

WHAT Mr. Bloom fails to understand is that the world goes downhill by its own choice. It lacks real pies because it does not want them, is incapable of appreciating them and somehow lives quite happily, in its ignorance, without them. We witness here a fatal decline in public taste. And of all nations Canada, I am ready to firm, has declined the most. Its palate has been debauched beyond saving.

HERE we are, a young and vigorous nation, skilled in all the arts of industry and lately concerned about our culture and our souls, but we cannot bake a decent pie. I will admit immediately that Mrs. Bloom can bake a decent pie, nay, a perfect pie, as her husband declares and as I have personal reason to know. I will admit further that a few ladies like her still maintain the old Canadian art in their own kitchens. But as a nation we cannot bake a pie. As a nation we cannot buy one in a restaurant or bakery. So far as I have been able to discover in journeys from coast to coast there is no pie worthy of that honorable name for sale anywhere.

THIS Mr. Bloom blames on the bakers, restaurateurs and hotel keepers. In fact the cause is much deeper and more serious. The universally evil cooking in the public eating places of Canada is not the result of a conspiracy among the food vendors as Mr. Bloom seems to imagine. It follows inevitably the death of the Canadian palate.

I will admit that the palate is still able to distinguish crudely between the more violent flavors. It will not mistake gooseberries for strawberries. Still, for all practical purposes it might as well be dead altogether and soon will be at its present rate. Otherwise it would never tolerate the kind of food served everywhere in public places. If the Canadian cared about the taste and quality of food he would return from a holiday in the United States—where the public palate still survives—and demand something better here.

MR. BLOOM apparently believes that the decline of the palate is part of a decline in the Canadian character. Quite the contrary. The Canadian people's character has so improved that it is no longer interested in mere animal appetites, even when they are presented in Mr. Bloom's lyrical poetry. The public taste has risen beyond food into the higher regions and the spiritual ether of the Massey Report.

If you doubt it, watch the Canadian enter a restaurant. He does not dawdle over his food as the carnal Europeans and Americans. He snatches a sandwich made of synthetic rubber, gulps it down and rushes out again to pursue his business. He eats, in short, not for enjoyment but merely to keep alive, to nourish his energies for important and constructive work.

THE GROUP OF SEVEN painted without regard to their stomachs. The Massey commission itself probably produced its masterpiece on a hot dog and a cup of inferior coffee. Canadians, in short, have left the flesh behind in the far flight of the spirit.

They will not imprison themselves in a quiescent of pastry and gooseberries. They will not heed the siren song of Bloom. But old men like him and me, too tired to soar, will be content to rest on the earth, so long as we can rest on a good home-made pie as it was cooked in a Canadian kitchen on a wood stove long ago before the country discovered culture and when it could still taste food.

Tangled Tape

Ottawa Citizen

It is comforting to know that the modern, all-powerful State is subject to error, administered though it is by experts and computerers. A case in point is that of Mr. A. D. Webb, a British Z-reservist, a class comprised entirely of ex-servicemen. In May, he received notice from the Royal Army Service Corps warning him he would be required for 15 days' training between June 30 and July 14. On May 30, although he had not yet attended his medical examination, he was informed that he had passed the test and was fit for service. On May 31, he received a stern warning from the Ministry of Labor and National Service, scolding him for not having attended his medical examination on June 2, and advising him that he had better attend the one on June 9. On that date he attended, but was treated with obvious distaste by the clerk in charge. That did it, and Mr. Webb has now turned the whole matter over to his Member of Parliament.

LAKE PARKING

The numerous traffic accidents of the past few weeks in the vicinity of Elk Lake seem to indicate the necessity for a revision in the parking arrangements before a fatal accident occurs.

The cars driving down toward the waterline create a constant hazard to children as well as creating a most unpleasant dust. A feeble attempt was made last year to fence off the beach road but it was never maintained. Could not the Eagles with their high ideals of public service be persuaded to set aside a portion of their land for a parking lot which would be in constant use and so add to the safety and enjoyment of one of the warmest and safest beaches in Greater Victoria.

HOSPITAL PLAN

The B.C. government does not hesitate to spend the taxpayers' hard earned money for a very extensive press campaign in order to attempt to put over its deservedly hated hospital tax. In the latest emanation of the government apologists for the prevailing lack of hospital beds we are told, "Lack of money during depression days brought the construction of needed hospital beds (sic) to a standstill." Ye Gods! A depression is exactly the right and proper time in which to initiate public works such as the constructions of needed hospitals, but our government lacked entirely the vision, courage and leadership to do anything of the sort at that time.

In spite of their universal and compulsory hospital tax the government says it is the communities duty to provide their own hospitals. Exactly where do the government think we are to get the money in these days of soaring prices? Or the essential materials such as steel, cement, lumber, etc., etc?

The B.C. government is now taxing us to the utmost limit for their precious hospital scheme, yet over 90 per cent of the tax collected from us is swallowed up for mere hospital maintenance, nothing is left for capital construction. As the hospitals are all still deeply in the red it is unlikely that loan will be obtainable for losing concerns.

Canadian boys will be returning seriously wounded from Korea. Are there sufficient beds for them and the civilian population?

Where are the government's glowing promises of free hospitals and security from expensive illness now? For a single person it costs at least $60 or $70 even to get near a hospital, then there are expensive doctors' bills and a whole lot of extras not covered by our tax payments.

If the government's hospital scheme is really good why is it not voluntary?

'Opportunity Not To Be Missed'

I would like to express my agreement with your editorial entitled "Victoria's Opportunity" in the Times of Monday, July 23.

This is indeed an opportunity not to be missed. As one of the many Victorians who appreciate the work done by our Arts Centre, I realize how greatly Victoria has suffered in the past by her inability to share in cultural activities as promoted by art galleries in other cities of Canada.

Art galleries of today are not static institutions to house permanent collections only. Though the care of the nation's treasures is a part of their work, they are also centres of many and varied activities in all branches of art.

They deal with classes, lectures, children's groups, discussions, and many other educational and social matters as well as the constant succession of exhibits of contemporary art and of traveling collections.

I hope that our city authorities will accept without hesitation the generous offer by the Spencer family of their old home on Moss Street to be used as an Art Gallery.

If this is done we in Victoria can share with the rest of Canada the privilege of watching the growth of the fine young Canadian art which is developing so strongly in our country. BARBARA WOODWARD.

Save The Lake!

Your timely editorial "The Tragedy of Campbell Lake" may soon be followed by another entitled "The Tragedy of Public Apathy."

Every lover of our island's beauty should regard with lively concern the desire of the B.C. Power Commission to dam Buttle Lake, in the name of greater and cheaper power.

Defense of Buttle Lake by a few energetic persons and organizations will not succeed, unless their efforts to save our heritage are backed solidly and persistently by spirited public opinion.

Strathcona Park, of which Buttle Lake is the commanding feature, was dedicated to the people of this land as a sacred trust and no Commission, be it ever so powerful, has any right to trespass.

More important, if Buttle Lake is not defended, and the proposed dam is erected, a precedent will be created on this island which may lead to the desecration of all our beautiful natural parks.

The advocates of hydro-electric power appear to have gone "dam mad," they do not seem to realize that the rapid advances in atomic research may make their dams obsolete within 20 years.

The vast sums of public money which the B.C. Power Commission find so easily to spend, should be put to better and more lasting benefits, by the creation of an irrigation scheme for the drought-stricken Fraser Valley and Saanich Peninsula.

Let right be done!

Bringing It Home

This is the first time I have attempted to write a letter to the paper, but the other evening you printed a picture on your editorial page for which I and many other of my acquaintances would like to congratulate you.

The picture was the scene of one of the worst of the accidents which have occurred in and around Greater Victoria during the past few months. Surely this, and other scenes like it should be to awaken the car-driving public to the realization of their carelessness on the roads. And, believe me, well over half the automobile accidents are a result of carelessness.

Take for example a narrow escape a friend of mine and I had a few days ago. We were driving up a hill along the Gorge Road toward town. At the top of the hill was a bend in the road. As we came to the top of the hill, a car coming toward us from town passed the car in front of it, regardless of the double white lines there. That driver couldn't see if anyone was coming up that hill and around the bend when he started to pass. That was why the double lines were there. And if it hadn't been for the split-second manoeuvring on the part of my friend, another head-on collision such as the one pictured on Sooke Road recently could have occurred.

There are everyday common faults such as speeding and being either too selfish or too stubborn to dim headlights at night—and as a result you have the vivid scene depicted in your paper. Don't stop there. Keep striving to keep careless, selfish drivers from behind the steering wheel. You, with the help of the police, can perhaps bring the realization of their faults to such motorists.

Russia Opens New Attack Phase

By JOSEPH ALSOP, from Washington

THE REAL GAIN in Korea has not been local; indeed it could be most clearly seen in Europe. In Korea, in fact, we totally disrupted a Soviet program of world conquest that seemed, only a year ago, to be almost unbeatable. There is no doubt at all that the Soviet empire would now be absorbing the first important fragments of a disarmed western world, if Korea had not put an end to "what might be called the Joseph Louis Johnson era of American and European policy making.

However, the masters of the Kremlin have now radically adapted their tactics to the changed world situation. And there are a great many reasons to doubt whether the western leaders are any better prepared to meet these new Soviet tactics than they were prepared for the sudden challenge of the Korean aggression.

The most vivid illustration of this western unpreparedness is the crisis in Iran, whose inner seriousness is not fully acknowledged, even today, either in London or in Washington.

The likelihood of a grave outcome in Iran is proven by the private understanding between London and Washington that if the Communist Tudeh party in fact begins to take over, the British will receive American support for a troop movement into the southern Iranian oil region. Unhappily, the chances are that it will then be too late for strong measures to save anything from the wreck.

USED TUDEH

The truth is that since the beginning of the Iranian crisis the western powers have been behind the game, and the masters of the Kremlin have made the running in Iran through the Tudeh.

For example, when this reporter saw Dr. Mossadegh in April, Mossadegh had not the faintest intention of proceeding to take over the British oil properties immediately. But the wave of strikes and disorders organized by the Tudeh then drove Mossadegh to immediate action. And so the British and American policy makers were brusquely deprived of "the time that would heal all things," which they had been smugly counting on.

The further truth is that we cannot comfort ourselves because the masters of the Kremlin will need some years to exploit Iran's oil for their own benefit. The simple loss of the Iranian oil resource will knock galley west the precarious equilibrium of the British economy, which has been achieved by such bitter self-denial. (How to cover the expected new British dollar deficit is, in fact, already being discussed in London and Washington.)

COMBINED INFLUENCE

Simultaneously, a Soviet triumph in Iran will have the widest repercussions throughout the whole disordered Middle East. And the combined influence of these developments will in turn alter the vital strategic balance in the eastern Mediterranean.

These consequences of the Iranian trouble, long ago forecast in reports from the scene in this space, may now come to pass in one or two or three months' time. If this sort of outcome in Iran is not somehow averted, the result will be a material upset in the world balance of power. But the process will not end there.

From all these bleak facts, the pattern of the revised Soviet tactics all too clearly emerges. The frontal attack in Korea has been a failure. Hence the masters of the Kremlin have gone over to a different system of offensive directed against the soft, vulnerable flanks of the western allies.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN TORIN

"THE HARDEST treatment to take," said the Elevator Man, "is to be treated the same way you treat other people. That's a form of justice we don't relish. It's not so much that we want to treat other people badly, but the strain of being decent all the time can become too much. And you don't want other people to act the way you do at such times. That's when you'd rather have mercy than justice. 'Do as you would be done by,' is an excellent rule. It's the secret of good living. But the other side of it—'You'll be done by as you would do'—is a threat nobody likes to consider. Queerly enough, a lot of us seem to have more time to be our brothers' keepers than we have to watch ourselves. But you'll make fewer enemies if you make more allowances. And making enemies is an industry whose production pays no dividends. Going up."

"I see," said the Elevator Man, "where the principle seems to have worked out down in Havana. The Cuban government wanted to get rid of the Communist propaganda magazine the Russian embassy was putting out there. An official went to the embassy and asked if a magazine opposing the government would be allowed to be printed in Russia. 'Just let 'em try it,' was the answer. So the Cuban official said, 'Well, you can try continuing publication of your magazine.' That was the last seen of it. Equality of treatment is a stern system. It makes your own morals the standard for others. It puts you on the spot. Lower main!"

"But even with the best intentions," said the Elevator Man, "we often find ourselves in the position of that fella in the story. They were questioning him at the hospital. 'You saw this lady driving toward you,' the policeman said. 'Why didn't you give her half the road?' 'I was going to,' mumbled the victim, 'just as soon as I could find out which half she wanted.'"

Lady Astor says that it is up to women to create order out of the mess that men have made in the last 2,000 years. 'Well, it's some order for the women!'

Dr. J. A. Pearce Will Continue 26-Year Study

Starting Wednesday, Dr. J. A. Pearce, for 10 years head of Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, will devote his full time to his 26-year study of binary stars.

He will also continue with important researches into the galaxy, which he began under the late Dr. J. S. Plaskett, and continued with Dr. R. M. Petrie, who has been named new administrative head of the observatory.

It is believed that one-third of the stars in the stellar system are binary systems. Some of the separations can be discerned with the naked eye, but the majority can only be ascertained by technical processes.

Although Dr. Pearce asked to be relieved of his administrative duties, he will still hold the position of senior research astrophysicist.

Dr. Petrie's assistant will be Dr. Andrew McKellar, who will take the position of assistant director.

During Dr. Pearce's directorship the observatory staff was increased from eight to 23, and plans for a new $125,000 addition to the present office building, to be built shortly, were instigated.

HOME GARDEN

by Jack Beasall

As we approach the mid-point of our growing season it will pay us to pause and take stock of our efforts to date.

It is now that we can determine whether the plans made in early spring were the result of experience, or of "catalogue fever."

In the vegetable garden the results of poor planning are often evident. A row of lettuce goes to seed indicates too much seed sown at one time, while the lack of a continuous supply of fresh peas shows the need for larger sowings or better timing of the later varieties.

The carrots could possibly be criticized. Where four rows are now maturing equally, it might have been better to sow each row at a 10-day interval, thus producing usable thinnings until the first sowing was ready to harvest.

Another section of the garden which could stand some very serious thought, is the strawberry bed. The average gardener will always lack space for many things he would like to grow, and when the quantity of picked berries is compared with the space occupied by the plants, we soon realize that the ground could be put to more profitable use.

Coming around to the front lawn and borders, these may be studied from the passer-by view. To be effective a lawn must have size. Green pocket handkerchiefs are troublesome to care for and too small to make a setting for the house, and possibly additional shrubs and perennials would be better in the space.

Errors in border plantings show up as lack of color for certain periods. A visit to the parks and public gardens will give ideas for better continuity of bloom.

These are just suggestions of what may be discovered when the garden is subjected to a critical eye. If no good reason can be found for having things as they are, it is time to change them.

But the changes will be forgotten unless they are entered in the garden notebook while the errors are in evidence.

Ack-Ack Units Wind Up Summer Camp

Anti-aircraft units from Western Canada, including 8 A.A.O.R., R.C.A., from Victoria, wound up a two-week practice camp at Albert Head over the week-end. Taking part in the firing practice were heavy and light anti-aircraft regiments from Winnipeg; Yorkton, Sask.; Edmonton, Trail, P.N.C. and Nanaimo.

The reserve units conducted heavy anti-aircraft firing practice from the Albert Head site, while light ack ack units fired from Parksville. The Victoria operations unit, commanded by Major R. V. Parrett, conducted plotting and radar exercises, while the local signal troop, under Lieut. A. G. Stewart, conducted signals training from Work Point.

The anti-aircraft gunners got their first glimpse of the post-war C.W.A.C. when Lieut. Dave Hill and three women members of 7 A.A.O.R. in Vancouver, visited the local training camp. Smartly attired in khaki skirts, battle dress blouses and berets, the three army girls caused quite a stir at the training camp. Regular C.W.A.C. uniforms are expected to be issued in September.

The present series of anti-aircraft practice camps will probably be the last ones held, using the present British-type guns and equipment. They are being shipped to Europe to equip continental armies under the North Atlantic Treaty agreements. New, U.S.-type anti-aircraft guns are expected to arrive for use by Canadian units before the end of the year.

Douk Leader Buried With Simple Rites

HILLIERS. Simple but colorful funeral rites were held today at the Doukhobor settlement in this small community 35 miles northwest of Nanaimo for Michael (The Archangel) Veregin, 68-year-old leader of the Hilliers group, who died in hospital in Vancouver Saturday.

Prominent at the graveside rites were the bread, water, and growing plant symbolic of the sect's recognition of the basic things of life, and the choral harmony of hymns by the congregation.

Veregin opened the Hilliers settlement, where communal living was rigorously observed even to the sharing of wives and sanctioning of "baby" permits.

Often called the master mind of Doukhobor terrorism in the Kootenays, he denied in court that he had directed fire raids, and charged the radical Sons of Freedom with plotting against him.

U.K. SAID SEEKING MIDDLE EAST AID

Needs U.S. Help As Undertake Re-examination Of Basic Policies

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—British policy makers have decided to seek United States help to cope with the rising tensions of the Middle East, a 150-year-old bastion of British influence, informed diplomats reported Saturday.

As a first step, the foreign office has undertaken a re-examination of basic British policies in the trigger-happy area.

The murder of King Abdullah of Jordan last week spotlighted Britain's dilemma. It gave decided urgency to the search for an Anglo-American understanding which officials here believe offers the chief hope of keeping the strategic crossroads region secure and stable.

The mission of W. Averell Harriman to London Saturday illustrates that Washington is well aware of the importance of stability in the area. President Truman repeatedly has stated that the U.S. wants the economy of Iran maintained by some working arrangement between Britain and Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's nationalistic government.

Since the war, Britain's influence in the area has been weakening. She has lost her Palestine mandate, is in process of losing at least a considerable hold over Iranian oil, her biggest foreign investment, and is being steadily pressed by the Egyptians to quit the Suez Canal zone and the Sudan.

Abdullah's assassination was only one in a long series in the Middle East since the seven-nation Arab League was launched in 1944 with British encouragement. Extremists have murdered a king, a Syrian president, four premiers, a United Nations mediator, and several other politically prominent persons, and have attempted many other shootings.

If this sort of pistol-shot politics continues, Britain fears it will destroy all co-operation with

Newsman From Britain Make Canada Tour

MONTREAL (CP)—The largest group of British newspapermen ever to visit Canada at one time arrived in Montreal today for a lightning tour of Canada.

Thirty-six in number, they represent leading British periodicals. They arrived aboard a British Overseas Airways Corporation stratoscruiser.

They will remain here overnight. Then they go to Ottawa, Toronto, Vancouver and Victoria. The newspapermen are motor correspondents and are here to tell their readers how British automobiles are doing in Canada.

In Vancouver they will be given British cars and told to hit the road en route to Banff, Alta.

The party comprises 35 men and one woman, Mrs. Kay Petre of the Daily Graphic.

DR. R. G. HINES, formerly of Victoria, was graduated from the University of Toronto recently in medicine. He was educated at Willows and at Oak Bay High schools. He is presently living in Toronto with his wife while he interns at Western Toronto Hospital. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Hines, live at 2412 Estevan Avenue. They traveled by air to the graduation ceremony.

British Labor Unions Plan Further Price Control Demands On Government

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain's Labor Government received clear warning today that its vast trade union following expects drastic action to hold the price line.

Unions representing 2,500,000 workers came out solidly with a sharp demand that more should be done to bring down spiralling prices.

In a series of resolutions tabled for the Trades Union Congress annual meeting in September, they charged that big business profits were going up while workers' pockets emptied.

Prime Minister Attlee's government has already moved to placate the unions.

The government last week pegged company dividends so that they can rise no higher than the peak yields recorded in the last two years.

The unions also were promised a return of some price controls to cut living costs.

But union chiefs still are not convinced that there is equality of sacrifice to help pay for the arms drive. They want proof that the "real" value of wages will not fall further.

The Trades Union Congress

agenda shows that the unions expect still more from the government. The resolutions on wages, prices and profits, tabled by 16 unions, are expected to get wide support from most of the 8,000,000 organized workers affiliated to the congress.

Views Of Sport

By ROGER KAHN, Substituting for Red Smith

NEW YORK—For the better part of three autumns, Arnold Tucker spent his Saturday afternoons handing a football to Glenn Davis or Doc Blanchard. What happened next would vary somewhat. Davis might go outside. Blanchard might go inside. But almost always, by sundown, Army would have another victory.

Happily for a legion of coaches the trio played their last college game in 1946. Although the mentors have been troubled by two-platoon nightmares recently, the cast of characters has not included such a thoroughly competent group of sleep wreckers as Blanchard, Davis and Tucker. When the three held sway, Army's dominance of college football was complete. It was the best team of its time, and if you want proof look up the scores.

There's been a police action on for some time now and that, coupled with the peculiar type of peace which has been troubling the world, has split that eleven to the winds. Army's football players were also soldiers and they've gone to places like Alaska and Tokyo to practise their profession. Some have been killed.

The Black Knights Return

Now, with tours of overseas duty completed, a few of the fortunate ones have been assigned back to West Point. Working as coaches at Army are men like Capt. Johnny Green, the rugged running guard, and Capt. Bob St. Onge, the fullback who moved up to the line at Herman Hickman's sturdy order. "Son," drawled Hickman, then an assistant coach, "you could make an All-American centre." The next thing St. Onge knew, he was down on all fours, snapping back the ball.

The newest arrivals at the Point are Blanchard, who has been piloting a jet fighter, and Tucker, who has been flying an assortment of planes in an assortment of places. Blanchard spent most of his time in Alaska, but Tucker, the solid man when he was a quarterback in the Army-T, has been to Europe. Have you Japan and has made 65 flights over Korea, dropping supplies to trapped troops and flying wounded men back to hospitals.

At 27, Arnold still looks as young as he did when he played football, and he has retained the air of cool efficiency which characterized his performances as middle man between Blanchard and Davis. But he has seen much of the world in the intervening years and he talks in a keen, logical manner that is a sharp departure from the accepted classic mold of football players.

A Soldier On The Platoon System

Tucker is glad to be back at West Point and he has reasons. "It makes me immensely proud to be home in my own country after being away for years, because after seeing other countries the realization of the advantages we have heightens the happiness of return." The trim lieutenant smiled. "Football could be called one of our advantages," he admitted.

But did he recognize the game? After all, when he left there were 11 men on a side. And platoons were still thought of as groups of soldiers commanded by a lieutenant. "It's a better game for the fans now, faster and with about 25 per cent more offensive plays run off. You can't coast when you're in, and so it's more demanding of the players. Everyone has to be a specialist. It's a better game."

Old Doc Atomized That Line

How, one wondered, would his Army team have fared against a two-platoon outfit? "Blanchard," said Tucker, "and Davis would be able to hold their own anywhere. How old Doc could hit that line."

"You know Davis will be back in town with the Los Angeles Rams and we'll be able to have a little reunion." "Maybe even play a little football together against the plebes?" "No, the most we'd be able to do is play a little touch tackle." Touch tackle or not, if the trio gets together again, pity the plebes. (Copyright, 1951, New York Herald Tribune Inc.)

Rainiers Hold Budge In Split With Solons

Seattle Rainiers still had their comfortable five-game home on Hollywood Stars in the Pacific Coast League today after a rare overtime double-header last night.

Seattle defeated Sacramento Solons 3-1 in the eighth-inning first game, while the Senators took the nightcap 6-5 in 11 innings. Sacramento won Saturday's single game 4-3.

Hollywood snapped a four-game losing streak by thumping San Francisco 8-2 and 4-3. Frankie Kelleher's two-run single in the sixth decided the seven-inning finale. The Seals won 13-7 Saturday.

Los Angeles took a strong hold on third place by beating Oakland 7-4 and 6-1 Sunday, after a 7-5 victory Saturday in 10 innings.

A home run by Jack Graham in the ninth gave San Diego a 3-1 win over Portland, but the Beavers took the second game 4-0, with Brooks Holder hitting two homers, good for three runs. The Padres won 5-3 Saturday.

Canadian Mark Falls At Highland Games

A new Canadian broad jump record spotlighted the annual Highland Games Saturday. The outstanding performance went almost unnoticed as hundreds of piping Scotsmen and a record crowd milled about the field at Macdonald Park, giving the competing athletes little chance to make anything but mediocre showings.

Dawn Josephs was the part mite who stole the show. She made a record leap of 18' 7 1/2" better the 23-year-old Canadian women's broad jump record held

They Come From Miles Around

This foursome of lawn bowlers typifies the international flavor of the 24th annual holiday lawn bowling tournament that got under way this morning at five Victoria clubs. At left is Herbert Smith of Courtenay and next to him is Frank Noble of Seattle's Queen City Club. Other two bowlers are George Crawshaw and Tommy White, both of Berkeley, Calif. The group represents just four of the more than 500 bowlers participating in the big event.

SCRIBE SAYS U.S.H.L. TO SUSPEND OPERATIONS

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Floyd Olds, sports editor of the Omaha World Herald, said Saturday "It appears all but certain" that the United States Hockey League "will vote to suspend operation for one year."

League directors meet here Wednesday. Olds, in his World-Herald column, predicted the decision will be made then.

"The time for the start of practice is drawing near," he explained. "No delays can be made. The league bosses will have to be ready to operate at this huddle or give up the ghost."

But he added:

"The league isn't likely to throw in the sponge and disband completely. With hopes for the future, a one-year suspension would freeze the franchises and protect the territory for the future."

Members of the league are Milwaukee, Omaha, Denver, Kansas City, Tulsa and St. Paul.

One difficulty, Olds said, is that it costs too much to keep the clubs shuttling back and forth between those widely separated points.

Cubans Playing Possum Says Davis Cup Captain

MONTREAL (CP) — Gordie MacNeil, captain of Canada's Davis Cup team, said in an interview Sunday the forthcoming draw between Canada and Cuba is going to be a "dandy tie."

The matches will be played here Aug. 3 to 5.

"I don't think the Cubans are showing all they've got in their practise sessions," he said. "The matches are going to be very close, one way or the other."

For the first time in a week, Canadian team members were together. They had been participating in a tournament in the United States.

Okanagan League To Aid Penticton

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP) — The Okanagan senior amateur hockey league today extended the big hand to Penticton, despite the fact Penticton's new arena may not be ready for the start of the hockey season.

Delegates from Kelowna, Vernon and Kamloops, last season members of the now defunct Mainline-Okanagan league, agreed to a plan which would permit Penticton to enter the league when they are ready to play.

Kelowna also promised to do everything possible to permit Penticton to use the Kelowna Memorial Arena until the new rink is completed. A carpenter's strike has held up work on it.

Penticton spokesmen said that if work did not resume by Aug. 15 there was no chance of the peach city being ready by Oct. 15, tentative starting date for the league.

The meeting approved an interchange of games with the Western International League and agreed in principle to an exchange with teams in the new coast league, providing the coast circuit plays senior hockey.

Albions Score Eye-Opener Over Oak Bay

The week-end cricket schedule was given a surprising fillip Saturday when Ernie Bowkett and the lowly Albions turned in a thumping 94-49 lacing of the league-leading Oak Bay side.

Bowkett, with 36, was the big bat of the afternoon. Best for Oaks was Sparks, with 26 runs.

Good batting marked two other games played Saturday.

Playing to a draw with Incoats at the University School ground, Cowichan's Dyson knocked out 55, not out; and Griffins teamed with George Payne in leading Five C's to a 155-105 win over Alcos.

Griffins was top bat of all three games, with 57 runs. George Payne had 56.

FINALS ON SUNDAY

McKinnon Gives Eagles Split In Hart Series

Victoria Eagles senior baseball will need a double win Sunday at Port Angeles to retain the John Hart trophy. The Leachman team split with the American squad here Saturday afternoon, winning 6-2 and losing 10-7.

Steady hurling gave the Eagles the first tilt, and might have won the second if Bill Prior had been backed by a more confident infield. Five errors played a big part in defeating the birdmen in the nightcap.

SHAMROCKS TAKE NOTE

Jack Showers was a one-man team at Stevenson Park Saturday when he netted seven of Oak Bay's eight counters as his squad downed Fairfield 8-4 in the pee-wee lacrosse division.

In the other pee-wee contest Saanich whipped Fernwood 6-3, while the Fernwood bantams beat Saanich 4-4 and Fairfield bantams licked Oak Bay 5-2.

Rocks Hurdle Jumps At Nanaimo Circus

By JIM McKEACHIE

Latest performance of the three-ring circus that is lacrosse in Nanaimo every Saturday night had everything, but trapeze artists hanging from the rafters over the weekend. No one needed to go to all that trouble, though—there were plenty of empty seats from which to see Victoria's Shamrocks rally to gain at 12-9 win over the Coaltown's Native Sons.

There was the midway—where the 'Rocks and Sons battled in a game that had a trailload of Victoria supporters biting their fingernails until a late surge gave the Irish the game and a comfortable eight-point fourth-place bulge in the league standings.

There was the peep show—a small boxed-in section from which players who slashed, roughed, sparred, yapped or boomed could peep at their teammates for two, five or 10 minutes, depending on the whims of the ringmasters—though some are convinced they are naughty, else but the clowns—referee Gordie Polka and Bill Wilkes.

There was even a hot air balloon sideshow, complete with animal-like characters and cops—unfortunately not of the key-stone variety and with no sense of humor at all.

DONKEY, SAYS DUSTY

It seems a Nanaimo follow-up—dubbed by 'Rocks' trainer Dusty Mair a donkey—had one pink lemonade too many, for just as Victoria started the box lacrosse which springboarded them to victory, he positioned himself behind the Shamrocks' bench and proceeded to hurl abuse at players and officials in phrases which would have made the dog-faced boy blush.

Norm Baker, possibly considering the hard plaster as if they were watching a tennis match, saw what must have been a heart-breaking finish for Nanaimo.

Through it all, fans, their heads shifting from the game to the bleacher ruckus as if they were watching a tennis match, saw what must have been a heart-breaking finish for Nanaimo.

They say good colors don't run—but colorful lacrosse teams do—and it was an off-color squad of green-shirts that flailed around the floor looking like monkeys for 51 minutes. Their passing and general offensive power looked like it had been left under the seats of the special train which brought them to the coal city, but this was due in no small part to the effective close checking of the Sons, plus the old bugaboo of Fred Fulla in the Nanaimo net.

Bill Andrews at the other end blew hot and cold, failing to see several long shots—notably the three Buck Bennie whiffed by him.

Bowkett, with 36, was the big bat of the afternoon. Best for Oaks was Sparks, with 26 runs.

Good batting marked two other games played Saturday.

Bob Monaghan, who was dynamite on loose balls in the game-winning spurge, took two perfect passes and scored two goals within 55 seconds of Booth's important marker, and that was it.

The surging North Shore Indians, who have been combining good lacrosse with their wood-chopping lately, will be in town Wednesday, in what could be a preview of the playoffs.

The final came with the donkey turning rabbit and scampering away, and Norm being escorted to the arena office for a word of caution by two members of the R.C.M.P.

FAVORITES FACE TOUGH TASK IN CITY FINALS

Playoffs will continue tonight in the Senior B Men's Softball League with the favorites up against the wall.

Esquimalt and West Heat tangle at Bullen Park while Navy and Forest Products will play their second game at Macdonald Park. Esquimalt and Forest Products both turned in upsets in the first games of their best-of-five semifinal rounds. Both games start at 6:30.

Senior A Clubs Win In Their Own Back Yards

B.C. Forest Products and Chinese Students of local Senior A Men's Softball League went to foreign fields over the week-end to play exhibition games.

Forest Products were in Ladysmith on Saturday night and the up-island I.W.A. team defeated the Millmen 5 to 4 on the strength of a ninth-inning home run that broke a 4 to 4 tie.

The teams switched home diamonds on Sunday afternoon and the Forest Products hammered the visitors 7 to 1 behind the excellent pitching of Bud Ross and Barry Jackson.

Ross went out after building up a 6 to 0 lead in the sixth inning. A large crowd sat in on the game yesterday afternoon at Central Park to watch the celebrated Bob Allen pitch for Ladysmith. Allen had won 16 league games and six exhibition contests before he was stopped yesterday.

Chinese Students journeyed to Vancouver to play Giroday's and the Fire Fighters of the Major Men's Softball League.

On Saturday night at Prince Edward Park the Students went down to 4 to 4 at the hands of Giroday's. Jimmy Chan started on the mound for the locals and was nicked for eight runs in the first four innings. Charlie McKay went in the fifth and held the winners scoreless over the remainder of the game.

On Sunday afternoon the Fire Fighters sent the Islanders back home with their second defeat, 8 to 1, as they thumped John Furmston and Archie Sluggett right off the first pitch. Sluggert went out in the fifth and Smoke-eaters picked up five straight hits, including a home run and two more extra-base hits.

Congressional Probe Of Baseball Begins Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional committee today began looking at organized baseball in the light of anti-trust laws.

But Chairman Celler (Dem., N.Y.) quickly let it be known that his house judiciary sub-committee's investigation will go on in a friendly atmosphere.

The probes, he said, want to preserve the integrity of the game and are agreed that it "must go forward with greater strength."

As two of baseball's big names—Ty Cobb, the old Detroit immortal, and Ford Frick, president of the National League—stood by ready to testify, Celler said the committee wants to find out whether organized baseball should be exempted from anti-trust laws.

GAME EXEMPT

Celler said that since 1922, when the Supreme Court ruled that organized baseball was neither "interstate" nor "commerce," it has been assumed generally that the game was exempt from anti-trust legislation.

Declaring that "this assumption has recently been drawn into question," he added:

"However, in the intervening years the industry has regulated itself without feeling that it was necessary to comply with the laws relating to monopolies and restraint of trade."

"Therefore, organized baseball affords this subcommittee with almost a classroom example of what may happen in an industry which is governed by rules and

Kesseling Wins Ontario Golf

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Gerry Kesseling relied on dogged determination and a magic putter Saturday as he won the Ontario amateur golf title with a one-up victory over veteran Nick Westlock, of Windsor, Essex.

Kesseling, 21-year-old shotsmith from Kitchener, Westmount, staged an uphill fight for 29 holes of the 36-hole final and then went in front to take the crown for the second time in the last three years.

He ended up with a 72 for the par-70 course of the London Hunt Club. Both had sub-par 68's for the morning round.

TWO ACES IN TWO DAYS

BALTIMORE (AP) — Frank Gossman, who hadn't shot a hole-in-one in his six years of golf, sank two of them on successive days.

What's more, he potted them from the same tee, on the 125-yard sixth hole at Mount Pleasant course here. Gossman made his first ace Saturday, then followed up with another yesterday.

Irvin Schloss, pro at the club, said chances of shooting two straight holes-in-one on the same green are about a million to one, maybe more.

regulations among its members rather than by the free play of competitive forces."

TO GLEAN INFORMATION

"Without knowing at this time whether such regulation is in the best interests of baseball because of its many unique characteristics, we may at least learn something of importance about how an industry operates when it regulates itself instead of being forced to comply with anti-trust laws."

Celler said the committee has no doubt whatever about the "validity and desirability" of the nation's basic anti-trust policy.

The committee, he said, is aware of "expressions of discontent" about baseball's reserve clause, the farm system, the powers of the high commissioner, franchises, and problems relating to broadcasting and televising of games.

And he added that it knows about a number of lawsuits, pending in courts, based on anti-trust laws and involving treble damages.

Importance Of Safety Emphasized In Soap Box Race Sponsored By Times

By DON INGHAM

To the thousands of spectators who will attend the Labor Day soap box derby on Yates Street Hill for the Vancouver Island championship, the races of the little cars will appear to be great sport for both the young drivers and the officials, but almost every move is backed by a large and rigid set of regulations.

Here are some of the points that must be watched by the committee, consisting of representatives of the Knights of Pythias, Wilson Motors and Victoria Daily Times, who will sponsor the sixth annual race.

Cars must be built by the driver, and a contestant who cannot answer construction questions will be disqualified.

Inspection committee must check each car carefully, preferably the day before the race to give each contestant time to make minor changes. It has been found that a firm inspection is the best insurance for a safe race.

Racers not conforming to the rules, or that appear to be unsafe, will not be allowed to start. The Yates Street course was chosen to illustrate sportsmanship and ingenuity rather than speed and daring, and with the safety of contestants and the spectators uppermost in mind.

Protective devices will parallel the course in case a car out of control heads for the spectators. These are just a few of the rules to be observed by the sponsors, learned through experience in previous races here, and from information from other centres.

The youngsters themselves have a long list of specifications that must be met, and rules of building that must be observed if the car is to qualify. Although long, they are in no way complicated, and actually help in the construction of a safe, fast "soap box."

Here are a few: Contestants must be from 11 to 15 years of age, and must be school students.

Total cost of the car must not exceed $7.50 exclusive of wheels and axles, and everything in the car must be evaluated fairly.

Wheel assemblies may be used in ready-made form. Commercially made steering assemblies may be used, but must be included in the cost of the car.

Wheel tread shall be from 30 to 36 inches.

Over-all width shall not exceed 42 inches, wheelbase must be 40 inches or more, and over-all length of the car must not exceed 80 inches. Height must not exceed 28 inches, and each car must have a road clearance of three inches or more.

Weight of the combined car and driver must not be more than 250 pounds.

Cars must have four wheels and two axles, but no spring system.

Steering wheels must be more than seven and one-half inches in diameter, and the kingpin must be not less than three-eighths of an inch in diameter. Steering cables must be of flexible woven wire. Rope, chain or clothesline cable are not permitted.

Each car must have a drag brake, floorboards must be at least three-quarters of an inch thick if made of wood, and windshields of any type will be disallowed. No decorations will be allowed.

These rules cover the construction of Class A cars. Before any new racer decides to compete in the event, he should secure a regulation copy of the rules to make sure his car will be allowed to enter.

Here in Victoria there will also be a race for Class B cars, which are not regulated but are judged to be safe.

MacArthur's Boston Speech Is Defended

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's use of the word "appeasement" in his Boston speech last Wednesday did not apply to the current truce talks in Korea, says an aide to the deposed Far Eastern commander.

The aide, Maj.-Gen. Courtney Whitney, issued the statement last night to clarify what he described as a "complete misrepresentation" of MacArthur's Boston speech in the New York Times' section reviewing the news of the last week.

Whitney said the Times statement "to the effect that in his Boston address Gen. MacArthur attacked the cease-fire negotiations now under way in Korea as appeasement is a complete misrepresentation."

The Times had no comment on Whitney's statement.

"SWEET AND LOVELY," says Highland Games piping convener James Dewar, as he looked up and listened while Vancouver piper Isabelle MacLean "warmed up" for competition at Macdonald Park Saturday. The class gathered in full force to make the 14th annual games the biggest and best yet. There were over 500 entries in various contests and 4,000 spectators had a "braw bricht" day. In the limelight continually was 73-year-old Bob Smith, left, former city alderman, who did fine job announcing events over public address system. "See those laddies tossin' caber," Bob directed crowd's attention to sports events. "I was never vera good at it. But ye ken I can toss the bull."

Famed Burma Road Route Of Smugglers

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—The Burma Road—which fed Chiang Kai-Shek's armies with United States supplies for war against Japan—has become the principal overland route for smuggling to Communist China.

Chinese truck convoys pick up petroleum products, rubber tires and other contraband at the northeast Burma frontier and transport them over the tortuous Burma Road to Kunming, 275 airline miles eastward. The illegal traffic in these priority goods is steady and significant.

An authoritative survey made early this month said the current traffic over the Burma Road averages around three convoys a week with 50 to 60 trucks in each convoy. Most of this trade is in legitimate items such as cotton but plenty of strategic material is also carried.

One official survey conservatively estimated that about 200 to 300 truck tires a month—or about 10 per cent of Burma's monthly imports of tires from western countries—are smuggled into Red China by this route.

It is almost impossible to estimate correctly the quantity of smuggled petroleum products but it is believed to be relatively small.

A variety of other priority goods in small amounts are being smuggled into Red China. The bulk of the China-bound contraband goes over the Burma Road. There are lesser quantities going into Red China over countless mule tracks leading over the frontier.

Crippled Ship Returns Friday

H.M.C.S. Sault Ste. Marie, Algerine-class minesweeper which serves as tender to Victoria's naval reserve division, is expected back at Esquimalt Friday, it was learned today.

The vessel will leave San Francisco Friday. The Sault Ste. Marie has been undergoing repairs at a U.S. naval shipyard for more than a week after engine trouble developed on a summer training cruise with reservists aboard.

WANT RECOGNITION, NOT MEN

Old Maids Will Have Their Day In Texas Celebration

DENTON, Tex. (AP)—Old Maids' Day, brainchild of an old maid schoolteacher, will be observed Aug. 15.

Mayor Mark Hannah of Denton has issued a proclamation designating the day. Big plans are afoot.

It was the idea of Miss Dorothy Babb, Latin instructor at North Texas State College here. A year ago Miss Babb began thinking about the unfairness of an old maid's life. Old maids, she said, spent a lot of their money buying wedding and shower gifts. She estimated that in 25 years she had spent $1,500 on gifts for others.

"Why," she asked publicly, "not have an old maid's day?"

Some courageous souls joined Miss Babb. There was a party in a theatre last year—with 300 old maids took part.

As a result of the publicity, Miss Babb received letters and gifts from all over the world.

There were even a half-dozen marriage proposals. But Miss Babb kindly explained that the old maids wanted recognition, not men.

WHAT'S YOUR OPINION?

By DAVE STOCK and IRVING STRICKLAND
Is it worthwhile to have a vegetable garden?

Reg. Attwell, salesman at Andrew Shire Ltd., 3554 Braefoot Road—“I think it's worthwhile even though it's a lot of work. I have a vegetable garden but it's not doing so well with all this dry weather. With a garden of your own, though, you get Reg. Attwell fresh vegetables that you otherwise would have to pay high prices for. And fresh vegetables are better for you than those you buy. There's a physical advantage to a garden, too. If you're inside all day like me, gardening is good exercise.”

Mrs. Alex Henry, housewife, 803 Hillside Avenue—“No, not for old people. For the work you put into it and the water you use, you don't get anything from it. You're certainly not ahead financially having a garden. As a matter of fact, you're in the Mrs. A. Henry hole. We've had berries and peas from our garden and they were good. But I'll buy my vegetables. Gardening is a lovely pastime. And it's all right if you're young and strong and have nothing else to do. But it's no good for anyone like me going on 82.”

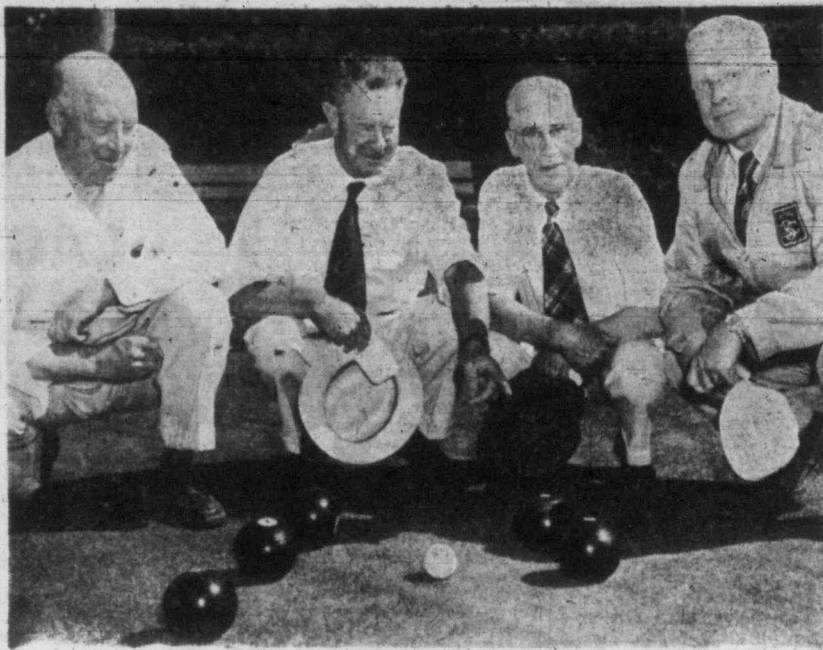

Charles Tarbuck, painter for Island Decorators, 626 Dundas Street—“I think everybody should have a garden because it saves money. You need vegetables to be healthy. The fresh vegetables you get out of the garden are much better for you than those you buy. A garden is a good hobby, too, for both men and women. From a standpoint of straight economics, a man with a growing family to feed is far better off if he grows his own vegetables. A garden will keep him at home, too.”

Mrs. A. D. McEwan, housewife, Green Road, Duncan—“We find a vegetable garden is worthwhile. By all means, it's profitable. I like it and eating as a vegetable. Our vegetables haven't been so extra good this year because of the dry summer, but what Mrs. McEwan we've had from the garden have been very nice. There is quite a difference between the taste of fresh vegetables and those that have been kept for awhile. But we don't have to worry about that. There's a fresh vegetable stand just down the street from where we live. Still, we have our own garden.”

Ed. Lewis, owner of Victoria Produce, 2611 Shelbourne Street—“I can look at that from the other fellow's standpoint as well as my own. If I was selfish, I'd say I wish the bugs would eat up all the private vegetable gardens. But I don't. We sell more vegetables in summertime than we do in winter despite what people grow. The trouble with a home garden is that everything comes up the same time. Vegetables are about the cheapest thing you can buy, anyway, considering the work involved. I prefer to put my garden into flowers.”

Mrs. Freda Randall, stenographer, Island Investment Co. Ltd., Gordon Head—“Definitely I do. Vegetables are so expensive. In the drought, though, it's not so profitable because you have to water so much. We have a garden. We find vegetables Mrs. Randall so much higher here than on the prairies. Fresh vegetables taste so much better and have more minerals and vitamin content. For best results, they should be in the pot 10 minutes after they come from the garden.”

James Givens, amusement tax inspector, 2733 Blackwood Street—“I think it's worthwhile. When you get nice fresh vegetables out of the garden, they taste better and they are better for you than those you buy. I have a small vegetable garden. I think, though, the average fellow should have flowers in his garden, too. Flowers add color and look nice around a place.”

Lawn Bowlers Keep Greens Busy Today

Victoria's lawn bowlers welcomed guests from the Island, mainland and southern Pacific coast today for the 24th annual holiday tournament. Over 500 trundlers are entered and play is progressing simultaneously on five city greens. Seen cogitating the lie of the balls in an early game today are, from left, G. W. Walkley and E. Upcott of the Canadian Pacific Club, and Harry Herbert and Lee McIntyre, two veteran members of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club.

Offer Council Co-Operation To Curb Smoke

Sidney Roofing and Paper Co. Ltd. is not one of the offenders when it comes to smoke, soot and cinder nuisance in Victoria, J. A. Craig, the company's general manager, maintained today. Mr. Craig added, however, his company was sympathetic to the situation and agreed that the problem was a grave one. His views were contained in a letter sent to city officials. “Some two years ago we completed a new steam plant and all the latest smoke abatement and control features were installed,” he wrote. Herbert Barnes, manager of the B.C. Forest Products Ltd., in a letter to the city clerk's office advising of a previous letter outlining the company's attitude on the smoke problem, wrote: “We are showing our co-operation by making certain tests and investigations in an effort to find out what we can do to help out.”

VICTORIA
A fine of $50 and a license suspension was imposed on William Grandison, 357 Sylvia Street, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving. Court was told that accused knocked down a pedestrian who was crossing the street at an intersection. For hitting a telephone pole and then colliding with a brick wall on Pandora Avenue recently, Marvin Anderson, 1060 Bank Street, was fined $40 and his license suspended on a charge of careless driving. He pleaded guilty. Gordon W. Roskamp, 450 Lampson Street, was found guilty of careless driving and was fined $35. Bram A. Bootsman, sailor, pleaded guilty to not having a current driver's license and was fined $25.

MY ERROR, SAYS JOHNSTON

'Wrong Direction'—Rainmaker

A lack of knowledge of geographical and climatic differences between here and the prairies seemed to account for the recent failure of his rain-making efforts in Victoria, Donald S. Johnston, prairie “rainmaker,” explained in a letter to the Victoria Daily Times today. The machine was drawing on the moon in an east-south direction, he wrote, and he had anticipated my garden into flowers.”

Mrs. Freda Randall, stenographer, Island Investment Co. Ltd., Gordon Head—“Definitely I do. Vegetables are so expensive. In the drought, though, it's not so profitable because you have to water so much. We have a garden. We find vegetables Mrs. Randall so much higher here than on the prairies. SAILOR SUFFERS SEVERE INJURIES

Leg And Skull Fractures Sustained When Car Shears Off Pole; Others Injured

Chief Petty Officer Aleck Nethum Muse, 38, is in “fair” condition at the naval hospital, Esquimalt, following a violent car crash at 4:10 a.m. today. CPO. Muse, who is reported to have suffered a compound fracture of the left leg, injuries to the skull and severe shock, was the driver of a 1937 model sedan which sheared off a utility pole at Bay and Bridge Streets. Treated at Jubilee Hospital for multiple cuts and bruises and then released were passengers in today's crash car. Mrs. Helen Muse, and Jack Kolbe and his wife, Olive, of Winnipeg. A squad of nine officers led by Sgt. Thomas Banister attended the crash scene. They reported that the car, going west on Bay, crashed into the pole on the north side of the street 73 feet west of Bridge Street. The terrific impact cut the pole off at the base and threw the butt six feet atop a brick wall. Police believe the car rolled over several times after the collision. Parts of the vehicle were thrown over 200 feet from the scene. Front and back seats had to be removed in order to get the injured to hospital in the police ambulance and patrol wagon. The car is considered a total loss.

The accident was the 436th recorded on the city police traffic division thus far this year in which 102 persons have been injured and one man fatally injured. Officers on night patrol have been keeping a closer watch on tourist cars in an effort to avert a recurrence of this widespread thievery during previous tourist seasons.

FIRE CHIEFS ASK YOUNGSTERS BE KEPT AWAY FROM MATCHES

Fire chiefs of Greater Victoria today reiterated their oft-repeated plea to parents to keep matches out of the reach of their children following accidents during the latter part of last week which sent two children to hospital suffering from burns. Bobby Smith, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Smith, East Saanich Road, who suffered leg burns Saturday when his clothing caught fire while lighting a fire in a play fort at his home, was reported in good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital. Condition of two-year-old Theresa Melkie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Melkie, 1117 Esquimalt Road, was only considered fair by St. Joseph's officials. The box of matches she was playing with in her home Friday flared up and ignited her clothing.

Payment Will End Fight Over Secession

With the payment of some $23,000 within the next two days to Central Saanich, Saanich Municipality will automatically wind up the long-drawn dispute between the two areas over secession, and will mark “paid in full” to the sum of $54,787 awarded to the junior municipality by the Saanich apportionment board, it was learned today. A previous payment was made to Central Saanich in June. The total figure represents the sum Saanich owed Central Saanich in the division of assets made by the apportionment board as part of secession proceedings. Actually, the second payment is not due until June, 1952, but the whole sum was included in the 1951 estimates, and Saanich will save interest charges by making the payment one year in advance.

“All pedestrians must walk on the road and take their chances with the traffic, and as each household in the block has two or more children, this constitutes a hazardous situation.”

I.W.A. Workers Cross Carpenter Picket Lines

Two hundred and seventy-five International Woodworkers of America (I.W.A.) workers, ignoring A.F.L. carpenters' union pickets, walked back into the B.C. Forest Products Ltd. plant this morning in the latest phase of the jurisdictional fight between the two unions. The I.W.A. workers were returning from a week's holiday. While city police, who were posted at the plant entrances in case of trouble, looked on, the C.I.O. day shift workers went through at 8 a.m. without incident.

The dozen pickets wore placards appealing “Don't cross the picket lines.” They made no remarks to the C.I.O. workers. The placards stated the jobs at the new plywood plant at the mill were not being filled by T.L.C. building tradesmen. Pickets were first stationed at the plant last Thursday by Local 1588, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners.

Plant officials said full-scale operation of the plant was resumed this morning with return of the mill hands. The plant is at 371 Oliver Road.

Ernest Oliver, president of the local carpenters' union, who is directing picketing of the plant, admitted afterward that he had not expected I.W.A. men to respect the picket line. He declared, however, that picketing of the yard would continue nevertheless. He said the picket line would be maintained by the Victoria Building Trades Council, which embraces about 20 T.L.C. construction trade unions. Feeling that construction of B.C. Forest Products' new $2,000,000 plywood mill should be undertaken by local building tradesmen, the council feels it has a grievance against the forest product firm; B.C. Contractors Ltd., which is doing the job, and the I.W.A. which is supplying the labor.

350 Attend Saanich Picnic At Mt. Douglas

Saanich Liberals had a big day at Mount Douglas Park on Saturday. The district association held its annual picnic. More than 350 members, guests and children attended.

Premier Byron Johnson and Mrs. Johnson met many of the picnicers, including three of Saanich's oldest residents—Mrs. P. Clark, Cook Street, a nonagenarian, and two octogenarians, Mrs. L. King and J. J. White of Sidney. Mrs. E. T. Lea introduced Arthur J. R. Ash, M.L.A. for Saanich, at opening ceremonies. Mr. Ash spoke briefly, appealing to all those of voting age to align themselves with the Liberal Party and forward their views to help promote good government. Prizes and candy were distributed to the children taking part in the sports events, and both young and old received soft drinks and ice cream. A special table was set aside where tea and coffee and other refreshments were served the guests. Attending the table were Mrs. A. A. Pass, Mrs. W. D. Mortimer and Mrs. Lea.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, guests included Harry Perry, president of the B.C. Liberal Association, and Mrs. Perry; Dr. J. Ewing, president of the Laurier Club, and Mrs. Ewing; Reeve Joseph Casey of Saanich and Reeve A. I. Thomas of Esquimalt; Mrs. T. Smith, president of the Liberal Women's Forum; Jack Maltman, chief Liberal organizer for B.C., and Mrs. Maltman; Saanich Councillor Pat Bate and Mrs. Bate.

'One Job' If Elected To House—George

Will Not Stand For Mayoralty

Mayor Percy George will not seek re-election as chief magistrate of the city in December if he wins the Coalition nomination and is elected to the Esquimalt seat in the Provincial Legislature.

He told the Victoria Daily Times today he wanted his position made clear “for the record.”

Mayor George has just returned from a two weeks' vacation on island and there has been much speculation on the possibility of Esquimalt Liberals choosing him as candidate for the Oct. 1 by-election to fill the seat made vacant last December by the death of Cmdr. Charles Beard.

Esquimalt Conservatives have promised to support the Liberal choice for the Coalition nomination which will be made at a convention Thursday evening at 8 in the Langford Community Hall.

The meeting will be open to accredited delegates only. There are 211 eligible to vote.

Mayor George's announcement clears the way for a group in the riding anxious to see him nominated. Election to the Legislature would mean a drop in salary from $5,000 paid by the city to its mayor, to the $3,000 private members' indemnity. The group feared opposition if the mayor intended to hold office in two public posts at the same time.

Langford branch of the Liberal Association announced over the weekend it is proposing P. G. Strachan, secretary of the Sooke School Board, for the nomination.

WILLS NAME MENTIONED
The name of Archie Wills, native son and former city alderman who recently retired as managing editor of the Victoria Daily Times, has also been mentioned in pre-nomination talk.

It has been suggested also that Reeve A. I. (Bert) Thomas of Esquimalt municipality has supporters who would have him named.

ISLAND MAN BACK FROM WAR
A Vancouver Island man was among 2,692 returning American army rotation troops from Korea who arrived in Seattle Sunday aboard the navy transport Marine Adder.

The islander, Lieut. Hugh A. MacDonald, is from Lake Cowichan.

Two other Canadians were among the returning troops. They were Cpl. D. T. Cox of Vernon and Sgt. Alexander Mayhew, Sydney, N.S.

Man, 78, Found Dead
Massa Singh, 78, of 2655 Rose Street, was found dead in his room Sunday night, city police reported. Police said the East Indian had a bad heart and death is presumed to have been from natural causes.

It has not been decided by B.C. yet who will receive the $10 monthly bonus that is being paid the 18,000 old age pensioners now.

Under the new plan, the federal government will pay $40 pensions to all persons 70 and over regardless of means, provided they have lived in Canada at least 20 years of their life.

Persons who have passed 69½ years should register for the assistance as they will be “of age” by the time the pension is paid.

Distribution was started at post offices in all parts of Canada today of application forms to be filled out by non-pensioners for the $40 monthly old age assistance to be started January 1 under the new universal social security program.

Registration of the group will be started Wednesday, when, it is expected, the headquarters office for B.C. will be opened in the former unemployment insurance offices at Broughton and Langley Streets here.

Officials of the local office, which will be under the direction of W. R. Bone, regional director of family allowances, said a few application forms were being picked up at the downtown post office and it was expected the bulk of non-pensioners will wait until after August 1 to fill out the forms.

They stressed that persons already in receipt of old age pensions need not register. Their records will be transferred from provincial government files and they will automatically start receiving the federal pension next January.

It has not been decided by B.C. yet who will receive the $10 monthly bonus that is being paid the 18,000 old age pensioners now.

Under the new plan, the federal government will pay $40 pensions to all persons 70 and over regardless of means, provided they have lived in Canada at least 20 years of their life.

Persons who have passed 69½ years should register for the assistance as they will be “of age” by the time the pension is paid.

Distribution was started at post offices in all parts of Canada today of application forms to be filled out by non-pensioners for the $40 monthly old age assistance to be started January 1 under the new universal social security program.

Registration of the group will be started Wednesday, when, it is expected, the headquarters office for B.C. will be opened in the former unemployment insurance offices at Broughton and Langley Streets here.

Officials of the local office, which will be under the direction of W. R. Bone, regional director of family allowances, said a few application forms were being picked up at the downtown post office and it was expected the bulk of non-pensioners will wait until after August 1 to fill out the forms.

They stressed that persons already in receipt of old age pensions need not register. Their records will be transferred from provincial government files and they will automatically start receiving the federal pension next January.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Shirts, Shorts For Junior Available And Reasonable

By PENNY SAVER

If Junior is going through everything from shirts to shorts, here are a few midsummer clothing prices to keep you happy. For these sun-drenched days he'll enjoy the comfort of cotton gabardine shorts and, of course, you'll enjoy the fact that they can be tubbed as soon as soiled with three kinds of everything.

'Tis said a size four short is as hard to find as last night's newspaper, but I found a supply of them this morning.

gabardine and alpine sports shirts are going to the wise shoppers at $1.89. Sum of 98 pennies also pays for dress shirts, sizes 3 to 7.

Give me a jingle, if you're interested.

Eggs, sauces and gravies, along with the whipped cream for the dessert bowl of raspberries, take kindly to a new little metal churn beater.

Action is up and down on this kitchen accessory but it can be used as a whisker. Price tag, 75 pennies.

Holders and more holders... and another holder for mops and brooms. I don't know why designers work as hard as they do on this item but every so often out comes another brilliant idea. Two loops attached to a short metal bar comprises the latest creation.

As simple as the telephone to use, the holder sells for a mere 35 cents.

Very posh, indeed, are the leather carrying cases for 45-r.p.m. record players. They boast a magnificent suede lining with leather straps in the lid to hold a number of recordings.

The 9 1/2 by 9 1/2-inch case is outfitted with zipper opening and price tag of $12.50.

Melt paraffin for sealing jellies and jams, over boiling water, just in time for using

In fact, I found sizes 2 to 6, and selling away at 98 cents a pair.

Eyelet-trimmed white pique bonnets for our little sun-bonnet. Sues are being wrapped up and taken home at 98 pennies each.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

A Reader Loses 15 Pounds Plus Unattractive Inches

For a few days I am printing letters from some winners of my eight-week self-improvement marathon. Gather about and hear what some of your determined sisters have accomplished and then imagine how different their appearance is now as compared to the way it was before. What they have done, you can do, once you make up your mind.

Today's winner wrote: "I received my marathon directions one day before my birthday. I started on my 47th birthday. I am five feet and five inches tall. It did wonders for me. I weighed 150 pounds, my bust measured 38 1/2 inches, waist 30 inches, hips 40 inches, thighs 24 inches. I followed all instructions faithfully except I missed my exercises one day. Here are my results. Today I weigh 135 pounds. My bust measures 36 inches, waist 28 inches, hips 36 1/2 inches and thighs 21 inches.

"I feel much better and can work all day without much fatigue. I do not want to lose any more weight. How can I keep from losing any more and still keep my exercises up? I want to reduce my waist another two inches. My skin is good. Will exercise firm my chin and throat?"

"I shall always be grateful for the marathon."

Doesn't that inspire you to do the same thing? This reader lost 15 pounds and inches and inches during eight weeks. She should add 500 to her calorie intake daily and watch the scales. If she continues losing weight she should add a couple of hundred more. In this way a woman can learn through individual experimentation what her daily calorie count should be for maintaining correct weight.

The exercises will distribute weight more attractively. This reader should continue with waist reducing exercises.

If you would like to follow this same eight week routine send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents with your request for the marathon booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

TODAY'S RECIPE

FROZEN FRUIT PERFECTION

One package cream cheese (4 oz.), dash of salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1/2 cup salad dressing or mayonnaise, 1 cup whipping cream, 1 cup sliced peaches, 1 cup sliced cantaloupe.

Mash the cheese with a fork and beat until smooth. Add salt, sugar and blend with salad dressing. Whip the cream and fold into the cheese mixture. Add the sliced peaches and the diced cantaloupe and pour into a freezing tray and freeze until firm. Serve on crisp lettuce. This recipe will yield six to eight servings.

Because we don't like to dilute our fruit juice drinks, we sometimes freeze a refrigerator tray of apricot whole fruit nectar cubes to use in keeping a pitcher of fruit juice ice cold. They make a colorful, flavorful addition.

Chocolate cake is the number one favorite for a picnic dessert. Leave it in the pan you bake it in, cover with a creamy chocolate frosting and sprinkle generously with chopped roasted almonds. The almonds will make the cake taste extra good and will also help keep the frosting from sticking to the waxed paper or foil when you wrap it.

Schiaparelli Introduces Her New Fall Mode

PARIS (AP)—"Rolling Surf" hems and drapery and wavy necklines inspired by the sea, were predominant notes in the dress collection shown by Schiaparelli Saturday.

She calls her new line "The Shape." But an audience which has learned to expect the unexpected of Madame Schiaparelli, most madcap of Parisian designers, found no shocking innovations this time.

As for hemlines, Schiaparelli is moved by the tide, and they're sometimes high and sometimes low. Some evening dresses are short in front, but trail floor-sweeping trains behind. Always superb in the color field, "Schiap" has wonderful brocades this season—burnished gold and brass satins, taffetas of luminous color-combination and such "shockers" as chartreuse lame with crimson velvet.

The fully-pleated bell skirts seen in all other collections thus far are conspicuously absent from Schiaparelli's collection. Instead she goes in for tight sheaths, furled (wrap-around) skirts, and lots of drapery, sometimes criss-crossed on the bodice. Drapery and décolletage are often asymmetric, and she sticks on bustles or waterspout trains ending in a bow.

Parisian Designer Features Full Skirts, New Sleeves

PARIS (Reuters)—Jacques Fath decreed the return of the full skirt when he opened the Paris fashion season last week, the fullest skirt that has been seen for years.

He calls it the "Lioness Silhouette" inspired by courtesans of the romantic era.

More than 250 models demonstrated what he meant—feminine curves and wasp waistslines accentuated by great bell skirts.

Yards and yards of material are converted into the wide gores of fine accordion pleats, into gathers or folds. They are worn over buckram petticoats or stiffened crinolines.

With all this fullness, skirts are also a little shorter. The balloon effect of the new sleeves is stressed by high collarless necklines and fullness suggested around the shoulders and necks by shirred yokes. The sleeves, mounted diamond-wide into the bodice, are draped to the elbow and fit snugly to the wrists. Shoulders are sloped.

For daytime wear, he shows tent coats over bell-skirted suits. Fur is everywhere. Gauntlet gloves sport 18-inch fur cuffs. Fath continues his breath-taking evening ensembles. Full velvet and satin coats are shown over short decollete ball gowns. Most popular daytime colors are dark green, olive or emerald. Tweed effects are introduced in jersey and rabbit's hair in soft honey-beige, gold and brown.

Thelma Brailford Wed In Summer Floral Setting Saturday Evening

Baskets of white gladioli, stocks and fern created a summer floral setting for the marriage of Thelma Mary Brailford and Merlyn Donald (Bob) Browne Saturday evening in First United Church.

Rev. D. B. Carr heard the nuptial vows of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Brailford, Russell Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Browne, Pembroke Street.

Malcolm Hamilton played traditional wedding music as the bride walked up the aisle on the arm of her father, Grace Adams sang "Because," during the signing of the register.

Snowy white chantilly lace and nylon net over bride's satin fashioned the exquisite wedding gown styled with fitted bodice and lace peplum, accenting the bouffant skirt. A veil of illusion net and Italian lace was caught in a tiara of seed pearls and brilliants. An heirloom cameo pendant was the bride's only jewelry. She carried a bouquet of white and pink gladioli.

Miss Claire Brailford, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a turquoise blue taffeta gown with nylon net overskirt and carried a colonial bouquet. Bridesmaids Miss Fae Browne, sister of the groom, and Miss Marie Dartt wore identical gowns of pink taffeta with matching nylon net overskirt. They also carried colonial bouquets.

The groom chose Russell Dempster as best man and ushers were Stanley Brailford, brother of the bride, and Laurence Smith. A three-tier wedding cake centred the bride's table at the reception in Terry's Rose Room. R. S. Butt proposed the toast to the bride.

Upon leaving for her honeymoon motoring through Washington and the Okanagan, Mrs. Browne donned a three-piece teal blue and grey suit complemented with burgundy and white accessories and a corsage bouquet of red rosebuds.

July Wedding Of Interest To Alberta

Guests from Alberta and other cities in this province were among those present in the flower-filled St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Saturday evening, when Miss Jean Stuart walked up the aisle to repeat her nuptial vows with Arthur Leigh Kinney, before Rev. J. L. W. McLean.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Stuart, 365 Arnold Avenue, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Kinney, 3017 Quadra Street.

For the 8 o'clock ceremony, the bride chose a suit of navy blue tulle with white lace trim and a pencil skirt. A summer white hat encrusted with exquisite daisies centred with glistering rhinestones held her hair veil. Her corsage bouquet was a delicate mauve orchid. Mr. Stuart gave his daughter in marriage.

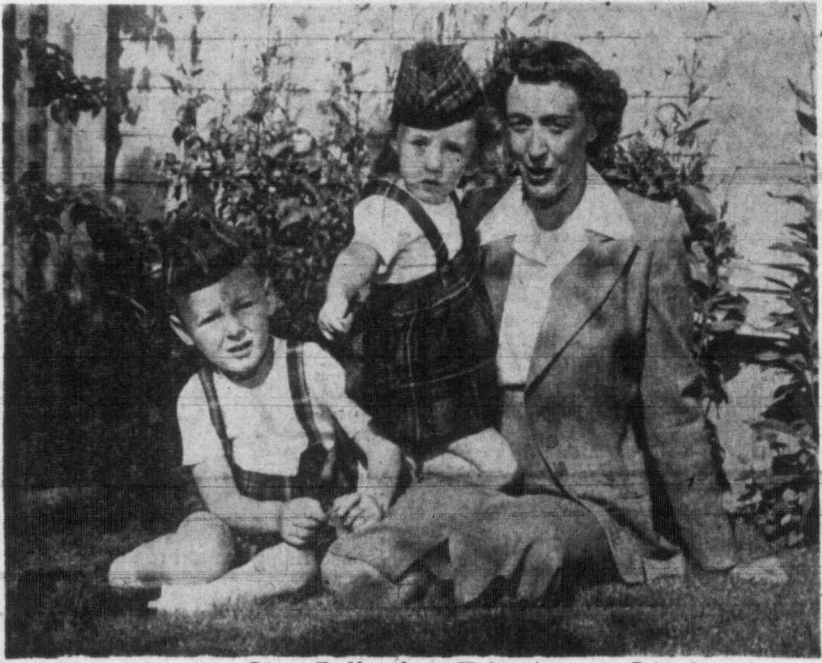

In a tulle of mist blue gabardine with soft-toned strawberry pink straw hat trimmed with roses and sprigs of white heather in corsage were worn by the bride's attendant, Mrs. T. G. Fisher.

Best man was David Smith and ushers were Arnold Ashworth and George Evans.

For the occasion the church was decorated with baskets of gladioli, fern and sweet peas. Robert Marconi sang, "I Walk Beside You," while the newlyweds signed the register.

The Flamingo Room at Crystal Garden was the scene of the reception where the bride's table was set with pink holders in crystal and silver holders, a specially decorated wedding cake and cutglass bowls of sweet peas. S. L. McCracken proposed the toast.

For the honeymoon motor trip to Washington and Oregon, the new Mrs. Kinney donned a Kelly green topcoat over her ensemble.

Vacation In City Following Trip Across Continent

Visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Pringle, Woodstock Street, is Mrs. V. S. Hamm and her two children, Michael, three and a half, and Rosemary, two. Mrs. Hamm arrived in the city last week from her home in Washington, D.C., to spend the rest of the summer. Mr. Hamm plans to join his family here later next month.

Brocaded Satin Wedding Gown Worn By Saturday's Bride, Phyllis Jones

Shimmering white brocaded satin and point de Venice lace fashioned the wedding gown worn by Phyllis Barbara Jones when she became the bride of P. O. Roy Bird, Saturday evening in Metropolitan United Church.

Dr. A. E. Whitehouse heard the nuptial vows of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Jones, Phoenix Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Bird, Winnipeg.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The wedding gown featured a net yoke and lily-point sleeves. The crinoline skirt was caught up at the hemline to reveal rows of ruffled lace. Her full-length veil was arranged under a coronet of orange blossoms. A double-strand of pearls, gift of the groom, was the only jewelry and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses and swansonia.

Mrs. Margaret Spence, matron on honor for her sister, was gowning in an orchid eyelet embroidery gown featuring sheer yoke. She carried a colonial bouquet.

Bridesmaid, Miss Alys Sampson, chose a powder blue taffeta gown and also carried a colonial bouquet.

Best man was Alfred Kubicek and ushers were Albert Spence and Lloyd Thompson.

A three-tier wedding cake centred the bride's table at the wedding reception in Olde English Inn. Carnations were arranged on the bride's table and sweet peas and gladioli decorated the rooms. John Bennett proposed the toast to the bride.

For her honeymoon motoring up-Island the bride wore a teal-blue nylon net dress complemented with a grey gabardine topcoat, white accessories and a corsage bouquet of red roses.

OF PERSONAL INTEREST

Miss Denise Mara, who was the guest of her mother, Mrs. F. D. Mara, Pemberton Road, all last week, returned to Vancouver by plane yesterday evening. While in the city, Miss Mara was presented in recital by Summer School of Education at Victoria High School.

In the city to attend the wedding of Miss Jean Stuart to Mr. Arthur Kinney Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Stuart, Lacombe, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Stuart, Calgary; Miss Gwen Meadows, Vancouver; Mrs. J. Elliot and R. Macintosh of New Westminster.

Commodore H. A. Walla: and flag officers of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club entertained club members and their guests at a picnic at Smugglers Cove, Chatham Island, Sunday afternoon. There was a wiener roast, treasure hunts for senior and junior members and a peanut hunt for the children. Flag officers received the party ashore in the early evening.

A tossed green salad goes together in a jiffy and goes with most any kind of a meal. Next time, make it with bite-sized pieces of assorted greens, tomato wedges, chunks of flavorful Calavo and bits of crisp crumbled bacon. Toss lightly with a wine vinegar dressing and serve immediately.

OTTAWA CABINET TACKLES BACKLOG

Premier St. Laurent, Ministers Back In Capital With Heavy Agenda Scheduled

OTTAWA (CP) — The Federal cabinet steps up the tempo of its deliberations this week as Prime Minister St. Laurent and a number of his vacationing ministers return to the capital.

The cabinet, which has been meeting once weekly since parliament rose June 30, will hold two sessions this week—Tuesday and Thursday—to tackle a backlog of business.

Mr. St. Laurent is returning to Ottawa from a three-week holiday at his summer home at St. Patrice, Que. A number of his ministers, either away on holidays or on business trips, also are expected back.

The cabinet agenda, with the Prime Minister presiding for the first time in several weeks, will be heavy with a number of problems, some old, some new and some developing.

Trade Minister Howe, who has been acting for Mr. St. Laurent in his absence, is expected to report on his one-day trip to Washington last week to discuss defense production problems with U.S. authorities.

External Affairs Minister Pearson will return about mid-week from a round of visits to northern European countries and probably will report on his informal discussions with some of Canada's partners in the North Atlantic alliance.

The council also will discuss plans for approaching trips by two of its senior members.

Defense Minister Claxton is heading a seven-man delegation to Washington for discussions with British and American officials Aug. 2 and 3 aimed at breaking the deadlock on rifle standardization. The British have announced plans to adopt one calibre of rifle, the Americans another. Canada wants them to agree on a common weapon.

Mr. St. Laurent also will be away early in August. He plans to fly to western Canada on a brief trip to several prairie constituencies, principally in Alberta, which he has not visited since he became Prime Minister.

One question sure to occupy the cabinet's attention this week and for some weeks to come is that of the controversial St. Lawrence seaway and power project. A U.S. congressional committee has rejected a proposal that the U.S. join Canada in construction of the project. Canada must decide now whether she wants to go ahead alone.

The cabinet probably also will give preliminary consideration to arrangements for the October visit of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

BRIDGE LESSON

by Oswald Jacoby

The national tournament now being held in Washington reminds me of an unusual hand that came along in last year's national championships. As this hand went from one table to another very few pairs managed to reach the laydown grand slam.

One successful pair was John R. Crawford of Philadelphia and Mrs. Margaret Wagar of Atlanta. Crawford's jump to four hearts indicated a hand that was strong enough to play for game even if South had the worst kind of holding for her response of one heart.

Since Mrs. Wagar actually held a fine hand herself, she naturally tried for a slam. Her bid of five clubs showed ace or void in that suit.

When West doubled, Crawford could redouble to show control of the second round of clubs. (It was, of course, obvious that they were not going to play the hand at clubs.)

Mrs. Wagar's next bid, five spades, was equivalent to bidding six hearts. Her reason for bidding five spades on the way to six hearts was to suggest the possibility of a grand slam.

Crawford would have signed off at six hearts if he had already bid his full values. As it happened, however, he was perfectly willing to encourage a grand slam, so he indicated that he had a really good diamond suit.

This was all Mrs. Wagar needed to hear. Her diamond holding was enough to fill out a strong suit but would be a liability if North had a weak suit. On hearing about the diamonds she promptly bid the grand slam.

Hailstorm Wipes Out Olds' Crop

CALGARY (CP) — A devastating hailstorm Sunday night swept over the Olds district, causing heavy crop damage. Losses were expected to reach 100 per cent.

Olds is 48 miles north of Calgary.

The storm was accompanied by heavy winds and torrential rains. It was one of a series of hailstorms which have visited southern Alberta almost daily for the last two weeks.

Trees were stripped and gardens ruined.

Inch-size hail stones fell on the northern outskirts of Calgary as the storm swept southeast.

Margaret Gets Large Income Soon

LONDON (Reuters)—Princess Margaret, the girl who likes to have her own way, will get her independence and a $6,000 yearly income from the government next month when she turns 21.

On her birthday, Aug. 21, the King's younger daughter will begin receiving the sum voted to her by the government plus a legacy of $20,000 left her several years ago by Mrs. Ronnie Grenville, society hostess and friend of the Royal family, who died in 1942.

The princess plans to celebrate her birthday at Balmoral Castle, Scotland. She was born there, and the Scots have always considered her one of their own.

Up till now, the vivacious young princess has had an allowance from her father. But her coming-of-age will not radically change her way of life, a Buckingham Palace spokesman said Saturday. Her finances will still be administered for her by the Queen's treasurer.

Being 21, however, Margaret will be eligible to serve on a Council of State when the King is absent from the country.

Other public duties may make further inroads on her leisure time.

Meanwhile, speculation continues each year when her birthday nears as to who the princess will marry.

trimonial candidates include:

The Earl of Dalketh, 27, heir to the Scottish Duke of Buccleuch; Lord Ogilvie, the Earl of Airlie's son; and Billy Wallace, son of Mrs. Herbert Agar, wife of the United States novelist.

Brig. Fred N. Cabelgué denied rumors that he is considering entering the forthcoming Victoria mayoralty election, while another ex-alderman, Ed. Williams, admitted he has been approached but has made no decision.

MORE POWER ON THE ROAD

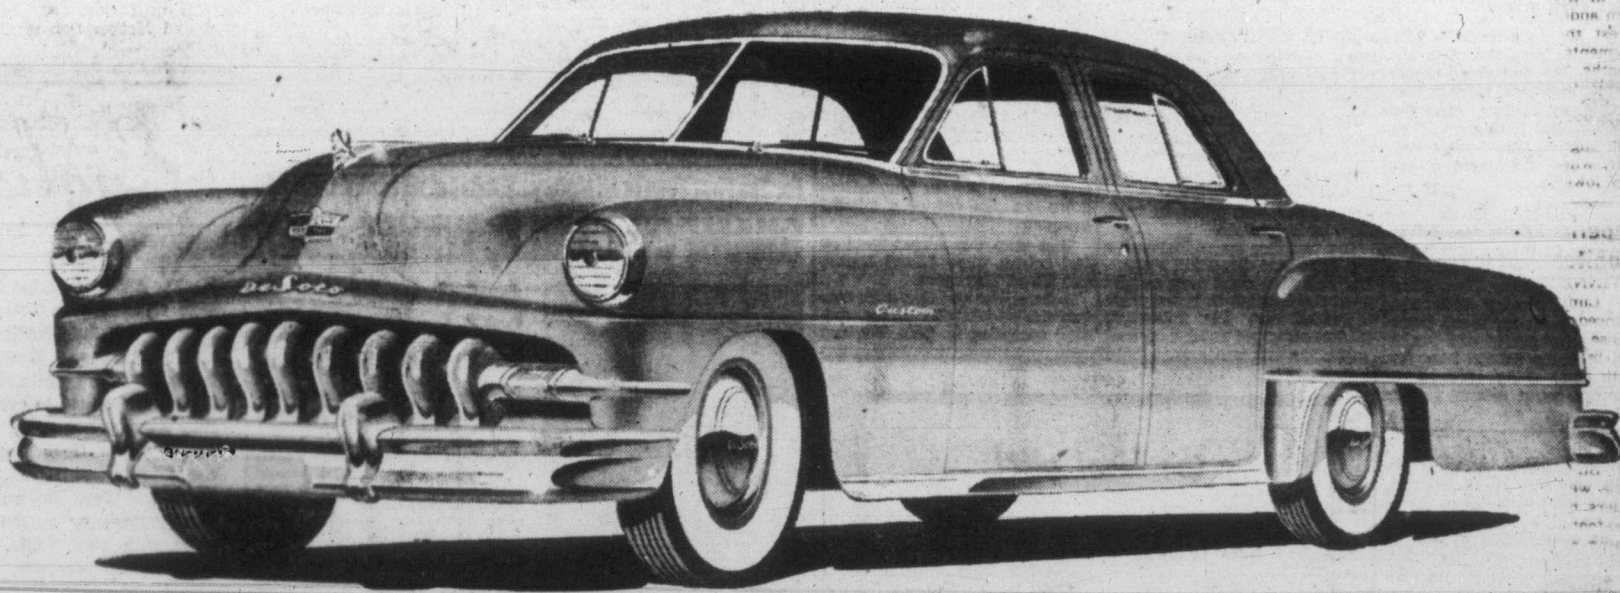

The new, bigger, 115 h.p. engine instantly responds to your lightest touch — hurries you smoothly and quietly over highway or city streets.

Until you've driven the distinctive new De Soto you can't realize the wonderful smoothness and riding comfort of this outstanding automobile.

De Soto's extra comfort and smoothness is the result, first of all, of the 125" De Soto wheelbase plus scientifically correct weight distribution and correct springing. There's a smoother, more level ride, with all passengers "cradled between the axles." Foam-rubber padded chair-height seats let you relax in comfort ... and, of course, there's generous head, leg and elbow room.

You'll hardly feel any vibration, because of floating power engine mountings, oil-smooth Fluid Drive and the silent, easy operation of "Tip-Toe" shift.

U.S. Holds Censorship Plans In Event Of War

Clamp On Regulations In Matter Of Hours, Jack Gorrie Tells House Group

WASHINGTON (UP) — The National Security Resources Board is holding in readiness censorship plans which could be put in effect "in a matter of hours" upon the outbreak of war.

U.S. Industry Offered New Radium Rays

NEW YORK (AP) — Tremendously powerful—but non-explosive—bombs of artificial radium were offered to United States industry Saturday by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission and the Brookhaven National Laboratory.

Each one is equal to all the radium in the world before the Second World War. Each one emits gamma rays—the radium rays which penetrate so deeply—at a rating of 1,000 curies.

The bombs are the metals cobalt and tantalum. Both are made radioactive in the Brookhaven atomic reactor which started work just a year ago.

The sources of radioactivity will remain at Brookhaven, safely shielded. Industrialists and scientific institutions are invited to send here the substances they wish to expose to radioactivity. The materials so exposed will not become radioactive. They will be returned and will be entirely safe to handle.

Highland Games Contestants, Crowd Set New Records At Macdonald Park

Victoria's Scottish community was getting back to normal today following the annual gathering of the clans for the 14th Highland Games at Macdonald Park Saturday.

Games and dancing entries, and the estimated 4,000 spectators all set new records for the event, which was held under the clear sunny skies which have prevailed over the lower island for nearly two months.

The skirt of the pipes, which began at 9 in the morning, resounded throughout the park and the James Bay area until 7 in the evening.

Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace, clad in the tartan of the Wallace clan, officially opened the games at 2 Saturday afternoon.

Climax of the program was reached late in the afternoon

Duncan Hospital Shows Surplus

(Special to the Times) DUNCAN—King's Daughters' Hospital here showed a surplus of $8,520 during the first six months of this year, hospital directors report.

The hospital was one of the few in the province to operate within its budget, said administrator Harry Baxendale, who put earnings during the period at $166,222. Disbursements came to only $165,161.

The board granted a pay increase to its lay employees, including X-ray technicians, laboratory workers, dieticians and office help, approximately equal to the 10 per cent hike recently granted unionized employees by the conciliation board.

Teachers Will See Playground Program

Teachers attending a summer school will see the playground program of the Victoria Parks Department in action Tuesday at 10.30 a.m. at Central Park and on Wednesday morning at Beacon Hill, W. J. Pynn, playground director, announced today.

Gordon Hartley will be in charge of the teachers' group, which will include men and women from all parts of the province and many outside points, including the United States. Handicraft instructors for the park program will be in attendance so that visiting teachers may see a display of the work done.

As high as $50 each is paid for frogs for breeding purposes.

Guys And Dolls' Vivian Blaine Back In Hollywood

By JACK QUIGG (For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Vivian Blaine, who quit Hollywood in disgust after six frustrating years as "a sweet little girl" in color musicals, is back in town again. And her friends hardly know her.

"I used to be the quiet type," the blonde singer explained. "You know, the nice gal who always got the boy. Now I'm noisy like 'Gangbuster'."

The change, she said, is the result of her rollicking role in Broadway's hit musical "Guys and Dolls." For it she switched her style completely. Now she has a brand new career.

RESTRAINT GONE Gone is the restraint that characterized her early Hollywood efforts. "Guys and Dolls" called for a singer with the bounce and exuberance of a Betty Hutton who was also an expert comedienne.

Vivian pulled out just what was needed. Now on a three-month leave of absence from the play, she is here for a flashy role in "Skirts Ahoy," playing a New York salesgirl who joins the Waves because three years ago she had gone rowing with a sailor in Central Park.

She said the same movie makers who gave her the cold shoulder after she left Hollywood are now peppering her with attractive offers.

Miss Blaine left pictures in 1946 and hit the road with her husband, Manny Frank, a talent agent who became her manager.

The historic Bayeux tapestry was made in Normandy about 900 years ago, depicting the Norman invasion of England.

Ontario Farmer Found In Swamp Now In Hospital

OTTAWA (CP) — A 100-man search for Michael Prytula came to an end, Saturday, when the 82-year-old district farmer, missing since Tuesday, was found lying in a swampland a few miles from his home.

Searchers said they found him with his clothes in tatters, his face covered with insect bites and generally weak from hunger and exposure. He was rushed to hospital, where authorities said the aged farmer was recovering quickly.

Prytula left his South Gloucester farm early Tuesday to search for a $10 bill which he lost in the swamp when he wandered into that same area more than a month ago.

Police said he apparently had tried to climb a fence, slipped, and had fallen to the ground on the other side. He had been too weak to get back on his feet again and had lain there until discovered.

Dismiss US General For Accepting Favors.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The army today relieved Brig.-Gen. David J. Crawford from his command of the Detroit tank arsenal and reprimanded him for accepting favors from contracting companies and using government material for personal purposes.

An announcement said that army secretary Frank Pace had taken the action after a report from the army inspector-general showed Crawford had "violated army regulations and had not met the high standards required of an army officer."

Crawford will be replaced in the Detroit arsenal command by Brig.-Gen. Carroll H. Deitrich.

Farmer Shoots Wife, Children Takes Own Life

NEW HAMBURG, Ont. (CP)—A 59-year-old farmer fatally shot his wife and two children through the head Saturday and end his own life with the same .22 calibre rifle.

A breadman making his rural rounds found the bodies of Wilbert Gofton, his wife, Clara, 35, and Cecil, 7, and Dolores, 5, when he called at the big stone farmhouse to make a delivery.

New Hamburg is about 15 miles west of Kitchener.

Police said the shootings climaxed long-standing domestic difficulties.

The bodies were found by Lloyd Hart when he walked into the home after knocking at the door for several minutes.

Mrs. Gofton was sprawled on the kitchen floor. Gofton and the two children were found in a bedroom—the children in bed with a teddy bear between them.

Two members of the family escaped death.

When Hart stumbled across the bodies he found 11-month-old Elina Gofton crying in her crib. The crib was a few feet from Gofton's body.

Another child, Carl, 2, had been taken to a nearby farm six days ago for a visit with friends.

BEDTIME STORY

by Thornton W. Burgess

With love that makes a mother dare
You find that nothing else compares.
—Old Mother Nature.

"Hisssss!"

That made Peter Rabbit jump and run a little way. Perhaps it was because he wasn't quite sure who was hissing. He was sure that it was one of the Snake folk, and Peter believes in safety first at all times. It is a rule of life with Peter. A pity it is that more folk do not have this same rule. It is good for everyone.

Little Mrs. Peter, who had been right beside Peter, didn't jump at all. No, sir, she didn't do anything of the kind. It wasn't because she wasn't startled or afraid, or didn't believe in that rule of safety first, it was because of love. That love was mother love, than which there is no greater love. Peter had only father love, and father love and mother love are two very different things. Father love can be very great, but mother love can be greater, and often is. It was in this case.

There was another hiss. It was a loud hiss. Were you ever around when a piece of hot iron was dropped in water? If so you know just how that hiss sounded. No wonder Peter had jumped and run. Peter jumped again at that second hiss, but Mrs. Peter refused to budge. She knew, just as Peter did, that one of the snake folk was doing that hissing. She knew that it might be one of the poison folk. Despite this she hadn't run. Now she saw who it was. It was Bluffer the Adder. He is often called the Hog-nosed Snake. This is because the very tip of his nose turns up a little after the manner of a hog's nose. He is perfectly harmless to anyone as big as Peter and Mrs. Peter, but he doesn't look harmless. Of all the snake folk he looks the ugliest and most dangerous. Yet only small folk like old Mr. Toad and perhaps some small and helpless babies have anything to fear from Bluffer.

When Mrs. Peter saw who it was she felt better. She knew that Bluffer was only pretending to be ugly and dangerous. What do you think she did? She jumped right over him, and as she did so she kicked with her stout hind feet and Bluffer didn't like it. Of course not. Nobody likes to be kicked. She turned and jumped over him again, and again kicked him. He struck at her, but she didn't mind at all. You see he has no long hollow poison teeth, called fangs, such as the poison snakes have. Bluffer's teeth are small. They didn't even scratch Mrs. Peter. When she turned to kick again, he wasn't there. He was sliding away. He had a great deal of respect for those long stout hind feet of Mrs. Peter's.

"That was a foolish thing to do," spoke up Peter Rabbit. "Supposing he had been one of the poison folk."

"But he wasn't," said Mrs. Peter.

"What did you do it for, anyway?" demanded Peter.

"If you don't know I'm not going to tell you," declared Mrs. Peter.

Then Peter remembered something. He remembered that somewhere near, hidden in the grass, were baby Rabbits, Mrs. Peter's babies and his. He didn't know just where they were, for Mrs. Peter had kept them hidden ever since they were born. It wasn't that she was afraid Peter would hurt them. No, it wasn't this. It was because she feared he might give that secret away to someone who would hurt them. She knew that father love is much more apt to be careless and thoughtless than is mother love. This is all too often true. While the babies were so small that they were helpless, she trusted only her own love for them to keep them safe, and so great was her love that she would face any danger, however great, that might threaten them. There is no courage like the courage of a mother.

Peter felt chagrined, but he tried not to show it. "Silly," said he. Mrs. Peter said nothing.

Scot Proves Successful In Channel Swim

DOVER, Eng. (AP)—A 54-year-old Scotsman swam the English Channel today, the third man to do it in two days.

Ned Barnie, an Edinburgh science teacher who made the crossing from France to England last year, did it the other and harder way today.

But Philip Mickman, 20, a Briton, who followed Barnie on the England-France crossing, gave up eight miles of the French coast. Mickman had been in the water 14 hours when his handlers ordered him into a boat because of heavy seas. The young Briton swam from France to England two years ago and sought to duplicate Barnie's Channel double.

Barnie's successful swim Sunday made him the fourth man in history to swim the 21-mile stretch of treacherous water in both directions.

Two others made the crossing Saturday, both swimming from France to England.

Canadian Schoolgirls' Party Entertained By Royal Navy

PORTSMOUTH, Eng. (CP)—The Royal Navy today played host to a party of 50 Canadian schoolgirls who are touring Britain as guests of Toronto's millionaire industrialist, Garfield Weston.

Conducted by Dr. Muriel Roscoe, dean of women at McGill University, the girls were officially greeted at the dockyards by officers of the navy and whisked off on a sightseeing tour.

With young sailors as guides they spent more than an hour inspecting historic H.M.S. Victory, Nelson's flagship in the Battle of Trafalgar.

Passing through the dockyards, the visitors had a close-up view of Britain's modern warships and by special invitation were taken aboard the home fleet aircraft-carrier Vengeance, just back from North Atlantic exercises.

Later, the tourists were entertained at luncheon by members of the Women's Royal Naval Service in Duchess of Kent Barracks, the only exclusive women's barracks in the country.

After the lunch the girls were driven to Portsmouth city council chambers where the Lord Mayor, Alderman A. Johnson, presented them with keys to the city.
